Chamber endorses park district effort

In response to an opinion poll of its members, the Antioch Chamber of Commerce has officially endorsed the Friends of the Park campaign to create a separate park district in Antioch. Several chamber members, however, expressed negative or undecided opinions about the campaign in the poll, fearing a separate park district could abuse its powers of property condemnation to meet its own needs.

Chamber President Jack Thelen, speaking as an individual chamber member instead of for the chamber as a whole, said he has heard of other park districts who have had property condemned in order to acquire the land.

"I've heard the Round Lake Area Park Dist. needed one acre to gain access to 30 acres of land that was donated to them, so they had the acre condemned in order to take it," Thelen said.

"If you've gone through the gut-wrenching experience of going through the condemnation procedure, you would understand how bad that is."

Round Lake Area Park Dist. spokesperson Linda Wiltberger said she has never heard of the district exercising its right to condemn properties. "To my knowledge, we have never used that legal ability. All of the land we've received was either donated or purchased through grants and tax dollars. Our board's philosophy has always been that if we can't work out a fair market price with the seller, then we don't acquire the land."

Friends of the Park Campaign Chairman Tom Shaughnessy said four out of the six people who are running for commissioners of the proposed park district board have publicly stated their personal convictions about condemnation -- that they do not intend to use their authority forcefully to acquire land.

"In general, park commissioners are very sensitive to their neighbors' needs and expectations," Shaughnessy said. "These people (running for commissioners) will cooperate with the citizen's needs."

He said by state law, a park district cannot officially rescind the code to condemn property. "We can't give away that authority via written statement." He said sometimes there are "friendly condemnations" -- where there is both a willing seller and buyer and both mutually decide to initiate the condemnation process for tax considerations. Additionally, the court is used as an arbitrator to negotiate a fair price for the land.

"But the condemnation procedure is never completely carried out, and both parties benefit from just initiating it," Shaughnessy said. "So, if park districts could not condemn at all, then willing buyers and sellers couldn't take advantage of 'friendly condemnations'."

Many people have commented on how the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist. has exercised its right to condemn properties in order to acquire land. Those running for commissioners of the proposed park district as well as current staff members of existing park districts said that even though a park district is another governmental entity that has condemnation rights, it doesn't necessarily mean that it would behave the same way as other governmental entities.

Shaughnessy said the Friends of the Park will hold a public forum about the campaign to create a park district Tuesday, Oct. 23 at 7:30 p.m. at the Antioch Comm. High School. "We're trying not to avoid discussing these issues with anybody."

Thelen said as an individual chamber member, he's also concerned about creating another taxing entity so close to the referendum in April to build a new high school. "Education is a higher priority than recreation," he said.

Shaughnessy said an informed voter needs to look through the emotional issues concerning taxes when the community is growing. "Because Antioch is growing, there'll be more (referendums to increase services, thereby increasing the need for more taxes) -- much more. If we don't plan for all of these needs of our growing community, our quality of life will go down."

"That's the decision an informed voter has to make."

Libraries annex land to serve area residents

Residents of Newport Twp. who previously lived in between library districts will soon be able to use Antioch or Zion Public Libraries.

The boards of both libraries have approved annexations in Newport Twp. last week. The libraries have been looking at the area for possible annexation for some five years.

"I think because of the service in general," Cheryl Isom, director of the Zion Library Dist., said.

Isom said in the past those who wished to use the library services had to pay a $70 fee per family for an out-of-district card.

The area annexed by Antioch library is west to the Antioch-Benton township line, north to the state line and the Antioch High School boundary to the south.

Annexed by Zion is Hunt Club Rd. west to the Benton Twp. line, the state line to the north and just south of 29th St. to the south.

Isom said the residents living in that area had had visits to the library but their children could not obtain a library card.

Zion's assessed valuation for 1989 was $387,295,437 and the tax rate was 19.4 cents per $100 of assessed valuation. The library rate was 15 cents per $100 of assessed valuation.

"It did not seem appropriate for two kids to be sitting in a classroom and one to be able to use the library and another one not be able to use the library," Antioch Public Library Dir. Kathy LaBuda said.

The Antioch rate is 16 cents per $100 of assessed valuation.

LaBuda said there had been informal requests for library service from the area.

The annexations will take affect 30 days after the votes. Isom urged residents with questions to call the library at (708) 872-4680.

Fight drugs

FOX LAKE—A week-long drive to heighten awareness of substance abuse and the battle against drugs will kick off Saturday, Oct. 20, in connection with the Grant High homecoming parade. For Red Ribbon Week, a theme of "Rule Out Drugs" has been adopted by Choices, an awareness group sponsored by the police dept.

OK annexations

NEWPORT TWP.—Residents of Newport Twp. who previously lived in between library districts will soon be able to use Antioch or Zion Public Libraries. The boards of both libraries have approved annexations in Newport Twp. The libraries have been looking at the area for possible annexation for some five years.

Talk strategies

GAGES LAKE—The Dist. 50 Friends of Woodland (FOW) organization outlined strategies to pass a Nov. 6 referendum at a public hearing. The district is seeking a $14 million building bond referendum on the ballot in order to add 62 new classrooms on three buildings to accommodate growth. Homeowners of Wildwood (HOW) will discuss the referendum when it meets on Wednesday, Sept. 24 at 7:30 p.m. at Warren Twp. Center.

Food store appeal

MUNDELEIN—Almost 2,000 signatures have been obtained on petitions to keep a food store in the downtown area. Trustee Ralph Rohling, who organized the campaign to demonstrate public support for the idea, will formally present them to the village board next Monday. The board is working to break a 10-year covenant the Jewel Co. slapped on a former Jewel-Osco store in downtown Mundelein when it moved to a new shopping complex at Rtes. 45-60. The former store now being converted to retail uses, which will hopefully include Eagle Foods as a tenant.

Need senior center

LIBERTYVILLE—Formation of a committee to explore the need, location and funding for a free-standing senior center is being undertaken by Libertyville Senior Council, a body of senior citizen and community groups. There will be some 4,000 seniors within two years and no place for them to meet on a continuing basis. The present center in Liberty Towers near the village hall used, mostly, for the noon-hour senior meal program, is not patronized by the majority of seniors due to conflicts with the senior tenants of the building.

Discuss fort plans

LIBERTYVILLE—The Lake County Forest Preserve is interested in acquiring some of Fort Sheridan. The members of the land acquisition and preservation committee said as much in a resolution adopted by the group on Friday. The move is seen as a first step in possibly acquiring portions of the 693 acre lakefront fort.

Select Bleck

GURNEE—Design work is expected to begin soon on the new village hall in Gurnee. The village board took a step in that direction when it appointed the architectural firm Bleck and Bleck. The new village hall will be located on five acres off O'Plaine Rd. north of the Warren-Newport Public Library.

Eye skateboard law

VERNON HILLS—Skateboarders in Vernon Hills may soon have to take their favorite mode of transportation elsewhere. At least they will not be able to use skateboards in shopping centers. The village board has endorsed a policy presented by Police Chief Gary Kupsak following discussions with Matthew Roberts of JMB Properties. The proposed ordinance was agreed to pending review of village Atty. Adeline Geo-Karis.

Park eyes 'port

ROUND LAKE PARK—Round Lake Park has published notice of a public hearing on its proposed acquisition of Campbell Airport, currently privately owned by Peter Kane of Kane Illinois Properties, a Chicago-based company. The approximately 346 acres of land "in fee" and 14 acres in easements that the village wants to purchase will be largely paid for by the federal and state governments. "With the federal government picking up 90 percent of the cost, and the state picking up another five percent, it's almost a gift," said Akins.

Back to school

WAUCONDA—Wauconda School Dist. 118 teachers are back to school, as they have reached a tentative contract agreement with the school board last Sunday, ending a two-week strike over salaries. Teachers will receive 10 percent the first year and nine percent the second year. The raise is retroactive to last August, when the old contract expired. Board President Daniel Quick said the days lost to the strike will be a combination of docked and make-up days.

New water rates

LAKE ZURICH—Village trustees formally adopted a water and sewer rate increase beginning Nov. 1. Instead of the $3.50 per $1,000 gallons, residents will pay $4.50 in November, $4.75 in May 1992 and $5 in 1994. Disabled and senior citizens will receive a 50 percent discount on their water bills. Commercial users will pay $5 in November, $5.75 in 1992 and $6 in 1994. Industrial users will pay $7 now, $8.75 in two years, then $10 by 1994.

The Wisdom Of Growing Older
Means Knowing When To Ask For Help.

At Victory Memorial Hospital's Mental Health Unit, we believe the wisdom that comes with growing older means knowing when to reach out for help. We know that at every stage of life, there are new challenges. Sometimes these challenges can be overwhelming. That's when it's time to call the caring professionals in our specialized unit for seniors.

Our job is to teach patients how to reach beyond their emotional pain and find a new meaning in life. Patients who were once wishing away their remaining years now hold on to each precious moment, feeling as though life is just beginning.

These changes don't happen as a result of magic or medication. They result from our staff working one-on-one with patients to help them see the world in a new light—adding color to what was once a gray world. In addition to individual therapy, our patients also gain tremendous value through participation in group therapy.

If you or someone you know is struggling with a difficult emotional problem, now is the time to reach out for help. Call the Victory Memorial Hospital Mental Health Unit at (708) 360-4082.

Hartigan hits Edgar on state's economic status

Despite the historic odds, Democratic candidate for governor Neil Hartigan believes he can win in Lake County.

"We will win in Lake County because the people are fed up with the status quo," Hartigan said.

Hartigan, who is running against Jim Edgar in the Nov. 6 election, came to North Chicago City Hall Friday to blast the economic status of Illinois under Gov. Jim Thompson and Edgar.

"Jim Thompson and Jim Edgar have been playing a shell game for 14 years," Hartigan said. "They promised not to raise taxes before the election and then raise taxes after the election."

Joined by North Chicago Mayor Bobby Thompson and State Rep. John Matijevich, Hartigan pledged to cut two percent of the state's budget.

"You have cut two percent of the state budget. The Edgar answer is more taxes will get results," Hartigan said.

He hit the Republican administration for a cut in education spending from 48 to 38 percent. "You have to pick up the difference," the present attorney general said.

"You're worried about your parents - and whether they can afford retirement; and you're worried about your kids - worried about whether there will be opportunities for them when they get out of school," Hartigan said.

Hartigan pointed out the following on the Illinois economy:

-Illinois has the second-worst growth rate in the county between 1977 and today. West Virginia's rate was worse.

-Illinois lost 460,000 people in the past decade - more than any other state except two.

-Illinois lost 340,000 manufacturing jobs in the last 15 years - more than any other state.

-Illinois lost 27,000 farms in the last 15 years - more than any other state except Texas.

-Illinois lost more farm revenue in the last decade than any other state - more than $1.8 billion.

-Illinois has had fewer business start-ups in the past two years than all but two other states.

-Illinois loses more money to the federal government - $25 billion last year, more than any other state except New York.

Hartigan pointed out the state has 5,970 taxing districts.

He also pledged to revamp the Dept. of Commerce and Community Affairs (DECCA).

Antioch passes leaf burning ban ordinance

by KATIE KUEHNER

The Antioch Village Board passed an ordinance to ban the burning of all landscape waste in the village, thus clearing up the confusion whether leaf burning was actually illegal in Antioch.

Apparently the resolution adopted by the board in 1987 to abide by the Illinois Pollution Control Board's prohibition of burning is now considered invalid. The village of Lake Forest took the issue to court which ruled that the Pollution Control Board has no right to supercede existing village ordinances allowing leaf burning. Consequently, the control board's prohibition was overturned.

To make sure leaf and other yard waste burning doesn't occur in Antioch, the village board passed an ordinance which in effect maintained the logic of the 1987 resolution.

Several village residents expressed their concerns regarding leaf burning at the board meeting. A gentleman asked if the village could pick up the leaves.

"We have no place to put them," Trustee Mabel Lou Weber said. "We can't put them in landfills and we don't have an adequate compost site to compost them ourselves."

The resident asked if the village's street sweeper could pick them up and Joe Huber, village superintendent of streets, said the sweeper isn't equipped to handle compilations of leaves, especially if they are damp.

Another resident asked if the board could ask the waste hauler companies to extend their seasons from October to at least November so that all of the leaves could be picked up.

"I just know my huge tree is going to drop its leaves Nov. 1," Trustee Tom Admussen joked as he agreed with the resident.

The board decided to talk with the haulers about the extension.

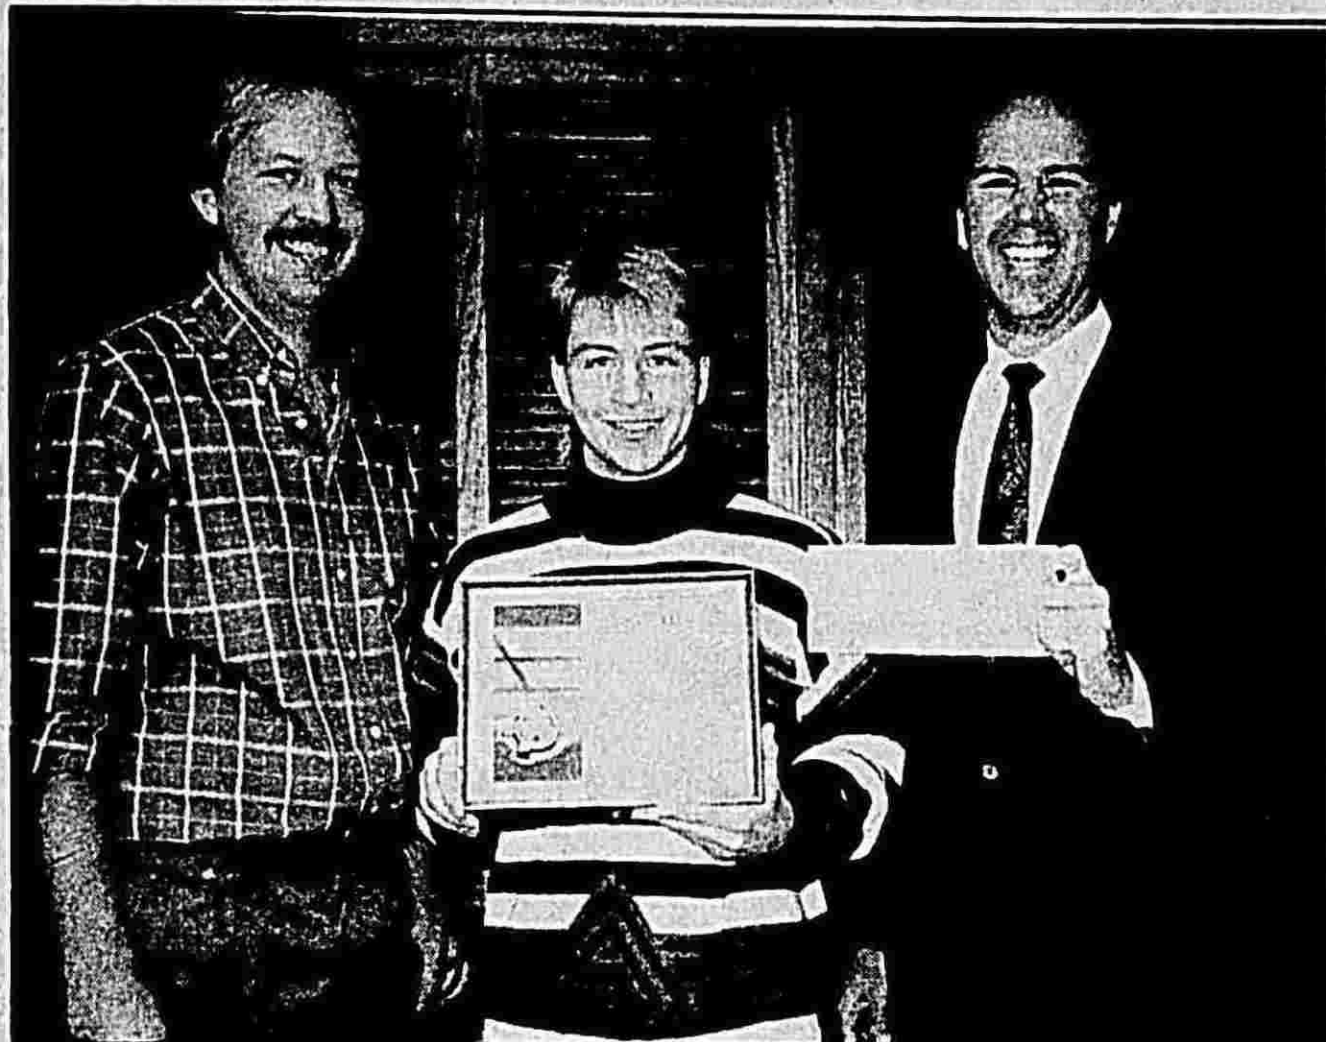

Another option the board discussed for next year would be to contract a disposal company to pick up all of the leaves in the village and then bill all of the residents $5 per household.

"Unfortunately, there's no way to do it this year," Trustee Marilyn Shineflug said.

She added that the situation should greatly improve when the Lake County Solid Waste Management Plan is implemented. According to the plan, area compost sites serving several communities should be developed over the next few years.

The board repeated the reason why it banned land waste burning -- to lessen the emissions of carcinogens and other substances harmful to Antioch citizens with asthmatic problems. Local people have reported large medical costs and even hospitalizations of their children resulting from the smoke of leaf burning.

Village Atty. Kenneth Clark said the fine for violating the newly adapted ordinance ranges from $25 to $500 every day the citizen is in violation. Each successive day the citizen violates the ordinance, another fine will be assessed.

Hanrahan, Athlete of the Week

Craig Hanrahan has been selected as the "Athlete of the Week" for his performance in soccer. Hanrahan had six goals and three assists last week, including three goals in the first quarter of one game. Groups gearing up early for Red Ribbon Week

Several local groups are preparing early for Red Ribbon Week, scheduled to start Saturday, Oct. 20.

Students at Antioch area grade schools have been decorating approximately 1,000 grocery bags from the Piggly Wiggly Store and approximately 1,500 bags from Jewel Food Store with anti-drug usage slogans.

The Antioch Drug Task Force transported the bags from the grocery stores to the schools and are returning the decorated bags Saturday so store patrons can carry grocery items home in them.

"This helps get the word out to the families that children are also against drugs," Dick Jorgensen, task force chairman, said. "This helps increase parental awareness -- stopping the notion that it can't happen to my family. Well, unfortunately, that's not the case."

He said some of the local grade schools involved are: W.C. Petty, Antioch Lower Grade, Emmons, Grass Lake, Lotus, St. Peters --- cutting across school districts and involving private as well as public schools.

The task force is also putting red ribbons on village light poles, parking meters and the trees lining Main St. The ribbons symbolize the village's commitment to a drug-free environment, thereby joining thousands of other communities across the country involved in the week-long campaign to end drug abuse.

Additionally, the Antioch, Lindenhurst, and Lake Villa Parent Network will sell ribbons on Saturday, Oct. 20 at various points in Antioch. Call Joanne O'Connell at (708) 395-1421 ext. 240 for more information.

The schools will also be involved in various drug awareness programs Red Ribbon Week, including videos regarding feeling good naturally on the pre-school level.

Antioch Community High School students of ALPHA, Lifeguard and Snowball will host a Family Fun Entertainment Night on Monday, Oct. 22 at 7 p.m. at the high school. Singer, comedian and juggler Pat Wiley will give a show for students (K-6) and their parents. Wiley will use his varied talents to express a message of feeling good about yourself and having fun naturally.

These efforts are in addition to the Antioch Chamber of Commerce's involvement in the campaign. The chamber distributed ribbons to its members to wear in their businesses. The chamber also sponsors a continuing drug-awareness program and has initiated "The Antioch Businesses in Support of a Drug-free Workplace" campaign. Forty-six chamber members have pledged their support of the campaign.

Growth good for Gander

A top reputation for providing quality hunting and fishing equipment keeps customers hooked on Gander Mountain. The Wilmot-based catalog retailing business continues to reach new highs in sales, profits and customers served.

In 1990 Gander Mountain served 2.4 million customers, more than doubling the 1986 figures of 1.1 million. This increase also resulted in an increase in revenues to over $100 million. Meanwhile, operating expenses were reduced 4.8 percent to $35.2 million.

Total sales for 1990 increased 1.7 percent over last year from $113.8 million to $115.8 million. The sales increase caused net income to surge 178.5 percent to $2.3 million or 84 cents per share.

The company's mail order business continues to account for the majority of its business or 84.1 percent of net sales. The mail order sales grew 10.8 percent in 1990 through improved and expanded product selection, catalog circulation and marketing.

Retail store sales have also experienced dramatic growth from $5.8 million in 1986 to $17.9 million in 1990. For over 30 years, the Wilmot store has served avid sportsmen and sportswomen from the Chicago and Milwaukee areas. A second store was opened in Brookfield, Wis. in 1987.

Activities will include swimming, basketball, volleyball, roller skating, a scavenger hunt and possibly even a little badge work.

On Saturday, October 20, Antioch will sponsor its first OctoberFest Scramble. The event, which is open to the public, will kick-off at 10:30 a.m. with a shotgun start. At the midway point, participants will feast on a special German lunch, replete with cash bar and plenty of imported beer.

The $20 fee includes 18 holes of golf, the German meal, and Scramble prizes. Cart is extra. Reservations can still be made by calling (708)395-3004.

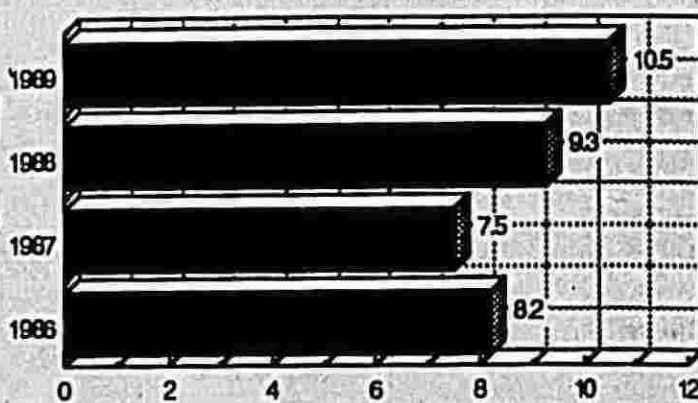

Antioch, now under the new management of GreenVisions, Inc., for one year, enjoyed a successful summer despite the prevailing rain, said Director of Golf Dave Greene.

As for the OctoberFest Scramble, Greene said: "I can't think of a better way to spend a beautiful fall day in the Chain O'Lakes".

School Dist. 34 board hears residents' views

by KATIE KUEHNER
Lakeland Newspapers

The Antioch Elementary School Dist. 34 Board of Education decided to reverse the bus route servicing children of Wedgewood subdivision on East Loon Lake so that the students would not have to cross Deep Lake Rd. to board the bus. The route reversal was viewed by the board as a temporary measure until it could fully review all of its options to change the bus stop.

The board's action, however, was not enough to please several Wedgewood residents who were at the board's meeting to voice their concerns over what they believe is a dangerous bus stop on the corner of Stanton Rd. and Deep Lake Rd.

The residents who were opposing, informally headed by Wayne Blake, asked the board to change the bus route so that the bus would either enter the subdivision on Stanton Rd. and then exit on Stanton (by making a u-turn in the subdivision) or enter on Stanton, drive through the subdivision and exit via Green St.

The board listened to Larry Schumaker, the district's head grounds maintenance worker, who earlier surveyed the subdivision with the district's transportation head and took pictures of the suggested routes.

"If the bus goes in on Stanton, it's really tight. And according to Mark Ring (Antioch Twp. road commissioner), the township hasn't brought the roads up to standard, yet."

Dist. 34 Supt. Dr. Donald Skidmore said Ring has scheduled Stanton Rd. for blacktopping in 1992 and will improve the crossover road to Green St. There is a bridge on the crossover street that has not been certified by the township, yet, so the school district doesn't know if it's safe enough at this time to continually drive a bus over it.

Skidmore said once improvements are done, Wedgewood residents can drive in on Stanton and cross over to Green, exiting from Green St.

"But until it is done, it is in the best interest of the safety of all of the children that we transport to stop on Deep Lake and Stanton," the superintendent said.

Skidmore added that there is a difference from a bus entering a busy highway creating the danger of being hit broadside and from it stopping on the side of the road with its blinkers flashing.

Wedgewood residents disagreed with Skidmore's conclusion. "The roads and bridge (inside the subdivision) can't be more unsafe than Deep Lake Rd.," Blake said.

The residents expressed their concern about a hill on Deep Lake Rd. just north of the present bus stop, limiting the drivers' views of a stopped bus picking up children. "And cars just whiz by," one resident said. "As a car driver, I'm scared myself."

The board decided that reversing the bus route to transport the kids southbound on Deep Lake Rd. would ease the danger somewhat of the reduction in drivers viewing due to the hill.

Residents said another reason they believe the bus stop is so dangerous is that the children have only a few feet to stand beside the busy road. "If they step one foot off the grass where they wait, they are on the highway," a resident said.

Several board members then said that the parents and bus drivers were informed the children could wait further away from the road.

A resident answered, "But after only two times of picking them up, the drivers wouldn't stop any more unless the kids were closer to the road."

"Why didn't you inform the superintendent or the board that the drivers failed to do this?" board member Fred Eichhorn asked. "We must have feedback from you if we are to enforce this." Board member Bruce Jablonski later said the district would be adamant in maintaining that the drivers would stop there if the kids were waiting further back from the road.

Another option to the present bus stop was discussed by the board in response to the issue of the tightness of the roads in the subdivision, thereby giving the present bus a tough time to get through the area safely. The board asked Schumaker the difference between the size of the bus now used and a mini-bus, which could negotiate the roads much easier.

"The present bus holds 71 passengers and the mini-buses hold 27 passengers," Schumaker said. "The head count for that run is up in the 50's now." He added that the number will undoubtedly increase in the next few years.

The board decided to review that option as well and Board President Gail Heath said hopefully by the next meeting on Nov. 2, a decision can be made regarding the alternatives to the present bus stop.

Several Wedgewood residents expressed anger that the board did not resolve the issue at the meeting.

Townpeople assemble for a parade

Sunny Day Activity

Wow! What a parade. The ACHS homecoming parade was bigger and better than ever. The faces in the huge crowd recognized by the Lizard were: Raymond Schultz, Shelby Weiss, Erica and Phyllis Wagner, Judy LaPlante, Pat Santiemmo, Darlene Olenick, Florence Babusck, Pat Zeien and family, Quinn Haley, Alyssa Anderson, Cathy and Steve Chinn, Marie Brausam, John Ruffin, Linda Boerman, Mary Lou Ford, Kelley and Jamie Brausam, Tony Gardin, Steve, Stevie and Pam Colletti, and Paul, Shirley, Aimee, and Dale Kitto. Some of my favorite highlights were the ACHS Jazz Ensemble, the W.C. Petty Grade School Band, and the AUGS Band. The various ACHS cheerleading and Pom Pon squads were well represented as were the ACHS football moms and football players. Once face I recognized among the football moms was Laurel Dahl from the village offices and the ACHS Board of Education.

The Homecoming King Norm Weldon, and Queen Deanna Olenick, looked great riding along in a convertible and waving to all on lookers. Norm had to wave with both hands, one as the Homecoming king and one as the newly crowned "Mr. ACHS for 1990-91."

The Ben Franklin victrola float was gorgeous as were the floats for the classes of '91, '92, '93 and '94.

The PM&L was represented by the marching cast from "Kismet" and the ACHS "Life Guard" against drugs float delivered an excellent message.

The mayors from Antioch, Lindenhurst, and Lake Villa waved to everyone as they drove down main street unified in the back seat of a convertible. About 30 to 40 members of the "Friends of the Parks" marched briskly along passing out stickers and flyers concerning the up-coming Antioch Park Dist. referendum. Andy Jones of the Lindenhurst Police Dept. looked impressive seated behind the wheel of his squad car.

The Antioch Viking cheerleaders lead the way the the Viking heavyweights, lightweights, and featherweights (Raiders, Eagles, Bears, Seahawks). The coaches I recognized were Chuck Grasser, Bob Malson, and Nick Papadakis. After the parade, Precinct No. 9 committeeman, Paul Kitto, was on hand at the football game to register voters for the Nov. 6 election. All of this took place on a mild, sunny and breezy fall day and when I saw the huge turnout, I realized I am not the only Antiochian who loves a parade!

Active Seniors

If you are a member of the Antioch Senior Center, I am sure you will agree the center is always planning fun things for everyone. If you are not a member, maybe you will decide to give the center a try after reading the following tidbits about their activities. The Lake County Health Dept. was on hand at the center on Oct. 17, to administer flu shots for only $3 donation. On Thursday, Oct. 25, a theatre outing to Marriott Lincolnshire is in the works. The $27 fee includes a performance of "South Pacific," bus transportation, and a delicious dinner at the center. Then on Friday, Oct. 26, a Halloween party will be held at the center. There will be a three piece band on hand for dancing and listening pleasure. Everyone is encouraged to wear a costume and of course wearing a costume is optional. Save your pennies, folks, because on Wednesday, Oct. 31, you will be going to Kenosha's Dairyland Dog Races. Bust transportation will be provided and the $21 fee includes a track luncheon and admission. Everyone is welcome to join in the play, party, and races. If you would like further information on the trips or programs offered by the center, contact Paul Howard at (708)395-7120.

Ribbon Week." During this time, the A.L.L. (Antioch, Lake Villa, Lindenhurst) parent networking group will be on hand at various locations in the three towns distributing red ribbons for people to tie to the left door handle, outside rear view mirrors, or antenna of their cars as a statement against various locations in Antioch, Lake Villa and Lindenhurst and be as generous as your purse allows as it is truly a worth-while cause.

Parent Networking

I would like to give you a little more info about the A.L.L. Parent Networking group operating out of ACHS. The main purpose of the group is to foster strong and effective communication between parents of teens in order to be award of and to better understand some of the problems our teens are faces with in today's society. There are quite a few members in the networking group and I had an opportunity to meet and visit with a few of them on Oct. 11 as I helped prepare the ribbons for "National Red Ribbon Week." I would like to recognize the ladies present at this particular meeting and commend them on doing such an excellent job encouraging parents to communicate so well with each other.

Cathy Cratty, Joann O'Connell, Jolen Wulf, Karen Noland, Ellen Ipsen, Karen King, Ardeen Harris, Darlene Olenick, Judy Denzel, and Marie Brausam.

A.L.L. is always looking to expand its membership and if you would like to join this networking group you can contact Joann O'Connell at the high school at (708)395-1421 for further information.

Parenting Course

Cathy Cratty of the ACHS staff will be teaching a six-week course titled "Active Parenting for Teens." Each session is two hours from 7 to 9 p.m. and the course begins on Wednesday, Oct. 24. It will be held in a room at the high school and a $15 fee will be charged to cover to cost of the books. If you are interested in joining this course, you can contact Cathy Cratty at the high school at (708)395-1421 for further information.

Emmons School

Individual student photographs will be taken on Friday, Oct. 26. Students are encouraged to dress extra special on picture day. A research committee has been formed at Emmons School to gather feedback from parents, students, staff, community, and the board of education concerning ways to handle increased enrollment and budget limitations.

Hometown Goodies

Fire Prevention

There is always the chance that a fire can break out in your home due to cooking errors, faulty wiring, shorts in appliances, etc. One could even argue that during the winter months the chance of a home fire is even greater as furnaces are utilized, fireplaces, wood burning stoves, and Christmas trees are brightly decorated with lights, etc.

The National Fire Prevention Assn. reports that 80 percent of all fire fatalities in the United States occur in the home. Many lives could have been and will be saved if people plan and practice fire escape routines. Children are often the needless victims of fires because they are more easily frightened and confused in a fire situation. The first through third grade students at Lotus School recently learned how to escape a home fire. "Fire and your Safe Escape" was presented to them by Doug Sommer, district coordinator of Community Education for Country Companies Insurance Corp. Parts of the program utilizes cartoons slides showing how to plan an escape route, to check doors and windows for safety, and to stay low and crawl out. Each child was given a special book containing a checklist of places in the home where fire hazards commonly exist and how to map escape routes.

More Fire Prevention

Along the same lines of fire safety, the classes at Camp Crayon in Antioch were visited by officer Lee of the Antioch Volunteer Fire Dept. Officer Lee helped the kids practice a fire drill at the camp, told them about the importance of the 911 emergency number, an taught them not to run if their clothes catch on fire. This would make the fire worse. He taught them the phrase "stop, drop and roll" as the safety procedure to use if their clothes were burning. The camp staff had told the little ones that officer Lee would be coming to conduct a fire drill. One of the youngsters wanted to know where his drill was and if he was going to drill a hole in the roof. We often forget how literally little people take the words that come out of our adult mouths!

Good Cause

The week of Oct. 20 through 28 is "National Red

Drug and Alcohol Abuse and to join "MADD" in their campaign against driving drunk. People are encouraged to leave their red ribbon in place until New Year's Day. Donations will be accepted for the ribbons to help pay for the expenses of the awareness program. After all expenses have been taken care of, the remaining proceeds will then be used for post-prom activities. Any donations for the ribbons or otherwise are needed and will be welcomed to help support the special post-prom activities. Please look for the people selling these statement ribbons on Saturdays, Oct. 20 and 27 at

ACHS sophomores to be assessed

The Antioch Community High School Guidance Dept. will again this fall administer the P-ACT Plus Inventory to members of the sophomore class. The P-ACT Plus is divided into two main sections.

The academic assessment consists of four sub-tests: English Usage, Mathematics, Reading and Science Reasoning.

The second segment of the P-ACT Plus consists of a Career Interest Inventory and a Study Skills Assessment.

The P-ACT Plus will be administered to members of the class of 1993 on Thursday, Nov. 8. Registration for the assessment will conclude Friday, Nov. 2. There is a $4 assessment fee payable at time of registration, representing a $2 reduction based on a refund from the College of Lake County. Checks should be made payable to Antioch Community High School. Registration will be conducted in the College-Career Center.

Jacobsen places 1st in State Senior Olympics

Tom Jacobsen, 72, of Antioch, placed first in the 100 yard freestyle race and second in the 50 yard race in the Illinois State Senior Olympics in Springfield. The feat is even more impressive when it is learned that Jacobsen had just started swimming competitively again this past summer after taking a 55-year break.

"My doctor said my health report card was a '9 out of a 10' and so I decided to do something to keep that up," Jacobsen said. "Swimming is the best way I know how to keep in fit. Besides, the competition is a lot of fun."

Before he swam in the Illinois State Senior Olympics, Jacobsen reentered the competitive sport of swimming by participating in a six county senior swim meet. He placed first there in the 50 yard race and had only trained for two months prior to that.

In 1936, Jacobsen was the captain of his high school swim team in Chicago and the team won first place in the Chicago Public High Schools relay race.

Before that in 1933, he placed 3rd out of a field of college swimmers and olympic athletes in the Chicago Tribune swim meet. At that time, Tribune sports writer Arch Ward featured Jacobsen's race as 'one of the closest and most exciting races of the meet'. Jacobsen was only 14 years old.

Promoted

Patrick Brady, Antioch, executive vice president of Michael Reese Health Plan, has named Robert Malone, Antioch, director of operations. In his new position, Malone will be responsible for purchasing, warehouse, telecommunications, engineering, courier/mail service and property management of operations of the Health Plan. Prior to this appointment, Malone was facilities planning manager for Baxter Healthcare Corp.

Swimming Champion

Tom Jacobsen of Antioch, 72, placed first in the 50 yard freestyle swim race in the Illinois Senior Olympics in the category of men's aged 70-74. Previously he placed first and second in swim races in a six-county senior swim meet. "Before these races, I didn't swim competitively for 55 years," Jacobsen said. "This summer the doctor said my health scored 'a 9 out of a 10', so I want to keep it that way. Swimming is one of the best ways I know how to do that." Jacobsen is pictured in swimming lane 5.

Overweight kids: How can parents help them

At one time, overweight youngsters were a comparative rarity in America's playgrounds. Not any more. Medical statistics show that obesity - a 20 percent or more overweight condition that already affects one in four adults - is growing fast among children between 6 and 17.

According to Charles Sekeres, president of Physicians Weight Loss Centers, the increasing prevalence of juvenile obesity is a national health hazard. He quotes a national study showing that between 1963 and 1980 obesity increased 54 percent among children between 6 and 11, and rose by 39 percent among those from 12 to 17 years old. Statistics also indicate that 40 percent of obese 7 year-olds and 70 percent of obese adolescents will become obese adults.

What's the reason? Health experts cite a number of factors. One is the example set by parents themselves. Children tend to emulate the eating habits they see at home. And since more than 60 million American adults are overweight, their children often follow the wrong dietary path.

In addition, more high-calorie foods are available now than in the 60's, "junk food" meals are a way of life, and children tend to exercise less nowadays. Even television watching has its effects on young people's food intake. Medical experts say watching enticing TV commercials for fattening foods and soft drinks, frequent snacking beside the TV set, and the inactive time watching the tube instead of playing outdoors, all can add up to extra pounds.

The effect on kids is serious, says Sekeres. Obesity can mean a shortened life span, risk of diabetes, heart disease, hypertension and other medical conditions. Important, too, is the "fatso syndrome" - young kids being taunted and teased at school and in the streets because of their physical appearance.

How can parents help their overweight children? The Physicians Weight Loss Centers expert says that, first and foremost, they can teach them good dietary and exercise habits by their own example.

He suggests mothers shop carefully and plan only meals that are high in fiber and complex carbohydrates and low in fat. Parents should limit their children's fat intake to 30 percent of total calories. By providing a balanced diet, and limiting access to snacks - except healthful foods such as fruit, raw carrot and celery sticks, and fruit-juice beverages - parents can control their own and their children's food intake simultaneously. Discouraging visits to fast-food outlets, and limiting tv-watching time, are other recommended steps parents can take to help their kids.

Sekeres stresses the value of regular family walks as a basic activity. These can be supplemented with cycling trips, backyard volleyball and basketball sessions, and other sports.

Election choices

Crunch time is at hand for candidates in the Nov. 6 general election. Lakeland Newspapers this week begins an examination of candidates and issues to be voted upon. Our first look is at four so called "lower ticket" state races, constitutional offices below governor and U.S. senator that head the ballot.

Secretary of State---Two high profile politicians have squared off for election to the office best known for its involvement with motorists and local libraries, an administrative position currently held by the Republican nominee for governor.

Republican Lt. Gov. George Ryan is locked in a tight race with Democratic Treasurer Jerome "Jerry" Cosentino. Before elected to his present position, Ryan was a veteran of the General Assembly with long-time experience in the House, including a term as speaker. Cosentino, a veteran party "insider," is well connected with Chicago party leaders. No one knows the workings of state government better than Ryan. He is our choice for secretary of state because of his experience, honesty and the quality he demonstrates every day of genuinely wanting to serve the people of Illinois. The attribute of being close to the people in a service office tips the scales in favor of Ryan, who has been especially attentive to Lake County needs while serving as lieutenant governor.

Atty. General---Currently Illinois comptroller, Democrat Roland Burris has an opportunity to expand his long record in state office and the achievement of being the first black to hold state office in Illinois history. The Republican candidate is Jim Ryan, young and bright who is the articulate prosecutor of DuPage County. We have no reason to believe that Burris will not continue to serve with distinction, adding to his stature in both state and national affairs. That is why Burris is our choice over Ryan, who undoubtedly will be heard from in the future.

Comptroller---Sue Suter, the Republican, a well qualified and courageous candidate, gets our endorsement not only for the talent she has displayed in getting things done in government, but because she is committed to devoting herself full-time to the vital watchdog responsibilities of comptroller. There is reason to believe that Democrat Dawn Clark Netsch, law professor and state senator, would get restless in the administrative post and be inclined to use the office as a base for her liberal and social causes. Suter is former director of the Illinois Dept. of Public Aid and the Dept. of Rehabilitation Services. She also has experience in a federal post.

Treasurer---Republican Gregory Baise, former Illinois secretary of transportation, easily gets our support over Democrat Patrick Quinn, who is out to parlay his anti-tax and governmental reform concepts into higher office. We look upon Quinn as mischievous and disruptive. There is no room for a posture like this in the treasurer's office. In contrast, Baise can be expected to build a commendable record to advance a career that unquestionably holds much promise.

Next week we will look at the race for U.S. senator, the governorship and county offices being contested Nov. 6.

Political campaigns cost big bucks

by JOHN S. MATIJEVICH
State Representative

This is a good time to reiterate what I have said before, something must be done about the huge costs being spent in political campaigns. In just two races in Illinois, the U.S. Senate and gubernatorial campaigns, upwards of $40 million will be spent. Other statewide races will be costly, too. When you consider the congressional, state legislative and local contests, it would be difficult to estimate how much is being spent in Illinois on political campaigns.

Most of the money raised to finance political campaigns isn't coming from the John Q. Public types. It's coming from special interest groups, with a stake in who wins or loses.

For example, you can look over the list of contractors rewarded public projects and it would probably be a who's who among campaign contributors. You've heard the term before, pin-stripe patronage. The old-fashioned political patronage was that of political parties rewarding political campaign work by handing out jobs in the public sector. That doesn't work anymore. First, the courts have ruled against political hiring and firing. In the second place, that style isn't as effective in today's highly financed election campaigns. The political parties look for the "big bucks."

In Springfield, legislators hold breakfast or cocktail receptions virtually every day that we're in session. They say that have to do it to generate enough funds to run their campaigns. The problem is that almost all of the contributors represent lobbyist groups that will urge the legislators to vote "yes" or "no" on this or that. This type of campaign soliciting if "of recent vintage." It may be a reason that the new breed of candidates don't seem to heed a political philosophy. By the way, I have never held such a fundraiser in Springfield. Holding one while the legislature is in session runs "against my grain."

Years ago, I tried to put a cost limit on political campaigns. It got nowhere. Special interest groups were vehemently opposed. You can guess why. Others said that applying limits to political campaigns would favor incumbents. I can't buy that, either. Incumbents are more apt to be able to raise more funds, so putting caps on campaigns would level the playing field. More importantly, it would reduce the heavy amounts of money used in campaigns, and that has to benefit everyone, especially the public.

The public surely is tiring of the sheer volume of political campaigning. The public is becoming irritated, too, over the growing use of negative campaigns. Public officials express legitimate concerns over voter apathy. But, candidates for public office ought to realize that they contribute to voter apathy when they sling mud and throw dirt at each other.

So, we must do two things, at least, if we are to expect more responsibility and public trust. We must put limits on political campaigns. We must do something to curtail negative campaigns. The legislature last session tried to address that issue by allowing candidates to voluntarily sign a pledge card that, in effect, says that they will not engage in negative campaigns. It is obvious that something more than that must be done. Candidates don't run political campaigns, their consultants do, so we might have to regulate them.

Meanwhile, I have faith that voters, in this election, can differentiate, and "cut the wheat from the chaff." It is too important an election to sit on the sidelines.

Viewpoint

School strike losers: it's always kids

by BILL SCHROEDER

Most importantly, Wauconda children are back in school where a teachers' strike for increased pay has dramatized just how ugly relations between a school board and faculty can get when disagreement over compensation reaches the impasse stage. The community has suffered wounds that will take years to heal.

Only Dist. 118 isn't out of the woods yet. The agreement for a 19 percent boost and benefits increases for a two-year period amounted to a stop-gap compromise so that classes could be resumed. As we understand it, the issue of pay for strike days remains to be resolved. This is an explosive question that could blow up in the face of everyone again.

Teachers union representatives hope to recover lost pay through some combination of eliminating snow days and extending the school year. If they are successful, a time-honored precept of labor relations where strikers are out forever pay lost while on the picket lines would go down the drain, thus setting a terrible precedent for neighboring districts. If the Wauconda board caves in to union demands for lost pay, striking, indeed, becomes doubly effective.

Board President Daniel Quick characterized the settlement as a compromise. He said neither side won. We're not so sure. Teachers in the unit district were adamant in their demand to be paid on a level with neighboring units at Lake Zurich and Round Lake. They achieved this goal.

In assessing whether there were winners or losers in the eight day strike, there's no question in our mind who lost. The children lost. The learning process was disrupted, games were forfeited and adults on both sides pitted students against one and another. Students always are the losers in a school strike.

Locating a school

Once again, residents of the Antioch High School district, which includes substantial portions of Lindenhurst and Lake Villa, are grappling with a question which never seems to go away---where to locate a new high school that has been proposed at a cost of $32 million.

Antioch Mayor Robert Wilton wants the school close to Antioch. Lindenhurst Mayor Robert Ratch says the new school ought to be close to Lindenhurst. Lake Villa Mayor Joyce Frayer is wondering whether the idea is financially feasible. And so it goes.

In the wave of mushroom growth in Lake County following World War II, a number of new high schools came into being simply because taxpayers wanted the convenience and identity of their own high school. And they were willing to pay for it. That's how Round Lake, Grayslake, Mundelein, Stevenson and North Chicago high schools came into being.

More than 25 years ago, a group of Lake Villa residents unsuccessfully sought to establish their own high school district. If successful, the current debate being waged about the future home for Antioch High never would have taken place. In today's climate of ever escalating education costs, we doubt if residents of Lake Villa and Lindenhurst want to break away and go it alone. So some compromises are in order.

The most obvious solution would appear to be to satisfy the Lindenhurst and Lake Villa residents who want to be recognized. That means picking a site convenient to them. If Mayor Wilton is chagrined about this, he can go on an annexation binge to take in enough territory to "keep the proposed school at home." That would make everyone happy. Or would it?

Letters To The Editor

Celebration of evil

Editor:

Happy Halloween, or is it? Parents, if you truly love your children don't dress them up for Halloween. If you must, let them be something happy, positive and loving.

Don't let your child go as Bart S. or a devil, or witch. Even those turtles they are mean and they hurt people. This so called "fun holiday" has turned into a Satanic Festival of Evil.

Give your child an alternative to Halloween with something that doesn't symbolize death, hate, rebellion and torture. God loves your child, but Satan doesn't.

Can afford pay, not frills

Editor:

In regard to the recent strike situation in Wauconda Unit School Dist. 118, we put our oldest child in this school system in Sept. of 1970. That makes this our 20th straight year of having children in this district. Without exception, every time I feel compelled to check the validity of information from my school board, I find that I have been misinformed, misled, and outright lied to.

I have obtained copies of Dr. Dick's contract and also that of Kathy Carpenter. I have saved the so-called report cards comparing our district with those of the rest of the state. I have copies of the schools budgets, Lake County Administrative Salary List 1989-90. Also, Regional Supt. of Schools Tax and Per Capita Cost Index for Lake County. I have the salary schedule from the teachers contract. I have contacted other district offices, who I might add, have been more willing to share information with me than my own board.

I arrived at the conclusion that while we can afford to increase the teachers salaries (Continued on next page)

Politically Speaking

by JOSEPH SOULAK
Lakeland Newspapers

HIT MAN—Attorney and state Rep. Robert Churchill (R-Lake Villa) of the 62nd Dist. has been named in an ethics complaint filed with the Disciplinary Commission of the state Attorney General's office.

It alleges Churchill's Grayslake law office handled a land condemnation case along the new Rte. 53-120 corridor in Grayslake at the same time Churchill was pushing the route through the state Legislature. The complaint alleges the law firm won a settlement of $102,000 an acre while surrounding land was going for $15,000 an acre. The case was handled by Churchill's law partner, John Quinn, on behalf of Victor Cacciatore, who has state Department of Transportation connections.

The complaint also says Churchill sought legislation limiting the powers of forest preserve districts at the same time property he owned in Lake Villa Twp. faced condemnation by the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist.

Both actions bring the legal profession into disrepute, the charges say.

Who's the hit man? None other than Robert Warrender of Lindenhurst. The activist is voting for Atty. Henry Warrender of Lindenhurst, Churchill's Democratic opponent in the upcoming November election.

NO SURPRISE—Almost to no one's surprise the Lake County Assn. of Realtors has endorsed pro-development candidates for the County Board on the November ballot.

They are, by district, 1. Republicans Edna Schade and John Janowick; 2. Democrat Angelo Kyle and incumbent Republican Matthew Miholic; 3. Republicans Bonnie Murphy and incumbent Jim LaBelle; 4. Republican incumbent Charlotte Kiesgen; 5. Republican Robert Depke; and 6. Republicans Robert Grever and Colin McRae.

Incumbents endorsed for county office are Democratic County Clerk Linda Hess and Sheriff Clinton Grinnell and Treasurer Jack "Red" Anderson, both Republicans.

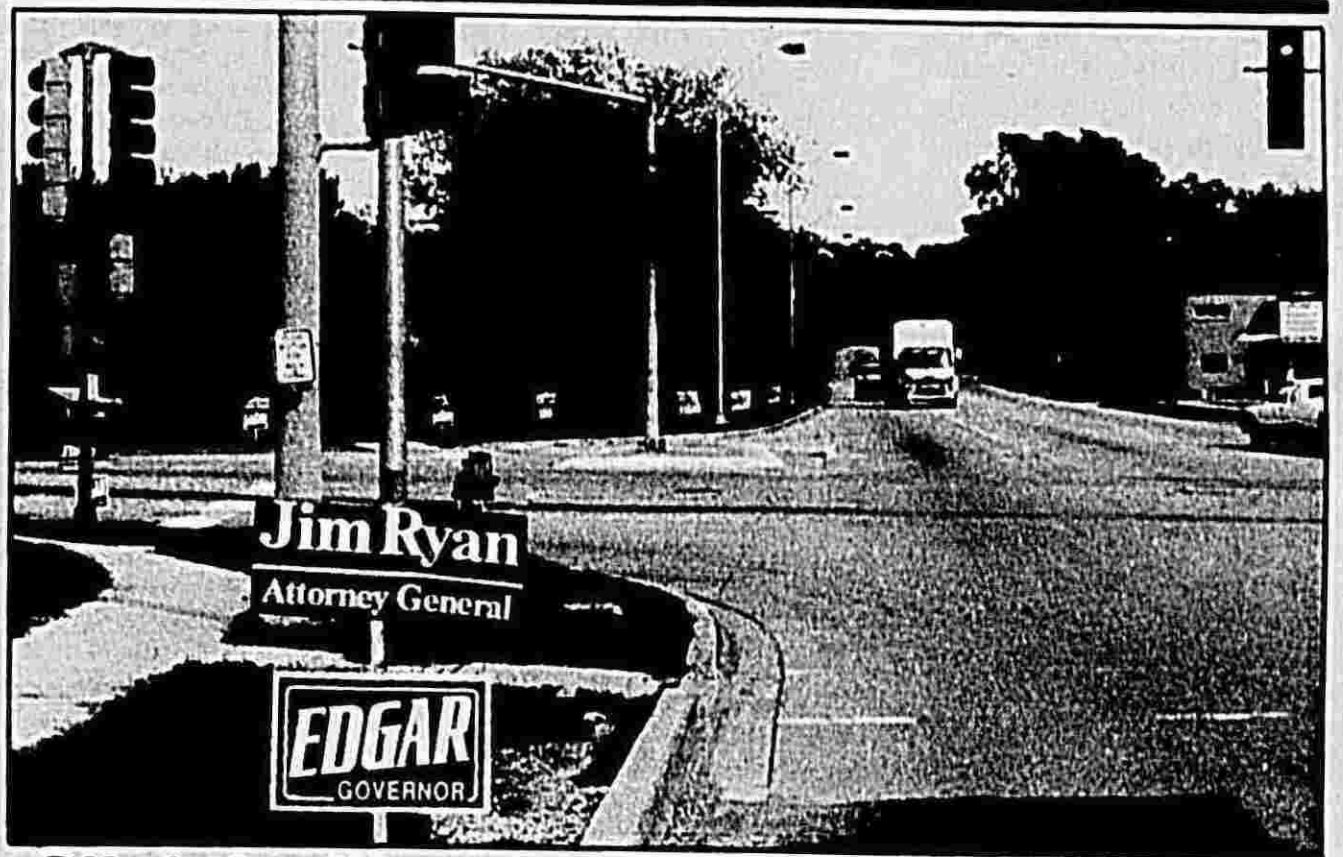

THE AXE MAN COMETH—

One person who plans to vote yes on the fall referendum for elimination of the elective posts of coroner and recorder of deeds is County Board Chairman Norman Geary. He may even have instigated it by appointing a prestigious 12-member committee that recommended appointive rather than elective holders of these offices.

Geary says Coroner Barbara Richardson "does little more than PR work for her office."

As for Recorder of Deeds Frank Nustra, Geary says "He's long past retirement." The man with something like 31 years in the office and almost 54 in Lake County politics also doesn't "play by the same rules as all other Lake County office holders, often marching to his own drummer."

Geary recalled there was the same hue and cry about 15 years ago when the office of county au-

Slightly illegal campaign signs

Campaign signs for Jim Edgar, Republican candidate for governor, are dotting the highways, byways and intersections of Lake County. These signs and those for attorney general candidate Jim Ryan plaster the intersection of Rte. 176 and Butterfield Rd. in Libertyville. Dozens of other similarly illegal situations have been spotted at other intersections and along the state right of way in central Lake County. Maybe that's okay for the Edgar folks who enforce some of the state's traffic rules. He's still secretary of state.

ditor was abolished by referendum. "We had pictures of Robert Milton, sleeping in his office. (This was because of an illness.) Milton and six employees were cut at that time to save the county thousands of dollars."

ABACUS POLITICS—Democratic Lake County Clerk Linda Hess said her Republican opponent doesn't know what he is talking about in dredging up campaign issues.

Republican Paul Chung, a Barrington dentist and native of Hong Kong, claims Hess works harder at registering Democrats than Republicans. Hess points out deputy voter registrars come from all walks of life and political persuasions, and she doesn't tell them who to sign up.

Chung also said he would recruit election judges at community colleges and 18-year-old high school students to relieve the annual one-day shortage. Hess said the judge problem will never be resolved because elections compete for a person's leisure time. Besides, it is a full day's work at minimal pay.

The Republican also said he would open a branch office in west Lake County. Hess said this would be too costly and such business is better done by mail or keeping the Waukegan office open until 7:30 p.m. on Fridays.

Hess notes she has been in office eight years. Chung has never held a higher political office than park district commissioner in Barrington.

ANOTHER POLL—Another poll has surfaced, with the results predictable.

According to the Illinois branch of the National Federation of Business, the state's small business community prefers Republican candidate for governor Jim Edgar by nearly a two-to-one margin in the upcoming election.

Some 48.1 percent of the state's small business owner say they will vote for Edgar, 25 percent for Democratic challenger Neil Hartigan with 26.9 percent undecided.

Asked to list the top issues for small business, they are tort reform, worker's compensation, unemployment insurance and mandated benefits. They say Edgar and Hartigan sharply differ on these issues, but Edgar's views more closely reflects the view of small business.

The state's small business advocacy group has 18,000 members.

READING OUR LIPS—Neither congressmen John Porter (R-Wilmette) of the 10th Dist. nor Philip Crane (R-Arlington Heights) of the 12th Dist. are rushing to turn out press releases on the 1991 budget debate in Washington.

Maybe they don't know how to explain it, either. The embarrassing situation is so outlandish it's ridiculous.

Crane voted against both the original budget compromise vetoed by the president two weeks ago and the second one that failed to make the grade last week.

Porter voted for the original budget and against the second one that failed to make it out of Congress.

This week both Porter and Crane voted no once again on a budget bill that passed the House that President Bush vows to veto.

Maybe Porter and Crane can read our lips about no new taxes, no matter if they are hidden in gas, tobacco, alcohol and fuel oil.

as was mandated by the passage of a tax referendum several years ago, we cannot afford the waste of multiple mailings, refurbishing unnecessarily, $10,000 pieces of fabric hanging from ceilings or the outrageous increases in salary and benefits for Dr. Dick and Ms. Carpenter.

I urge you all to vote out the current board of education as positions come up for reelection and to support our teachers by keeping your children home should the schools reopen with substitute teachers.

Tired of attacks

Editor:

As a citizen of Lindenhurst and one of its trustees, I am sick and tired of Robert Warrender and his personal vendetta against Mayor Robert Ratch. Mr. Warrender has begun a second set of politically inspired half-truths and falsehoods. The first set filled the newspapers during the last municipal election in Lindenhurst. The good citizens of Lindenhurst saw through his false statements and rejected Mr. Warrender and his cohorts. Democracy does work.

Lindenhurst has made excellent progress during Mayor Ratch's term of office. We have paved miles and miles of roads, erected a 750,000 gallon water tower, obtained a very favorable low interest loan to construct a state of the art waste water treatment facility and have generally been recognized as one of the best managed and financially sound communities in Lake County.

If one were to believe Mr. Warrender, you would expect violence in the streets and a mass exodus of citizens to other towns. Citizens do sell their homes, but move to a newer home in Lindenhurst. The facts do not support his outrageous statements.

Mr. Warrender would have you believe that he alone knows all the correct answers to the Village's challenges. The only thing Mr. Warrender has shown is an unreasonable hatred for Mayor Ratch and a willingness to describe Lindenhurst as a town with a "deluge of problems" and a "devastation." If Mr. Warrender really cared about Lindenhurst, he would try to help maintain it as an excellent place to help maintain it as an excellent place to raise a family rather than describe it in negative terms in the press, in hopes of creating a political following for himself.

Lack of supervision

Editor:

Most crime occurs on second and third shifts. Days are usually the least staffed. Manpower utilization usually is no secret to the criminal element. They can usually tell you what days officers have off and what shift they work.

At the meeting for Chief Chuck Miller, why were there as many cars in the parking lot with Wisconsin license plates as there were with Illinois?

One statistic at that meeting showed in 1985 patrol miles on squad cars was at 172,000 miles and dropped every year up to 1989 when there were only about 77,000 miles.

At this time Jerry Haley stated "I used to be a police officer and all that shows me is the department is doing such a good job they don't have to patrol as much. Isn't that right Chief Miller?"

That is the farthest from the truth. Patrol is the largest deterrent to crime there is. What the police department boils down to is a very large lack of supervision. Some of the people of Antioch just do all not want any waves made. They want to see everything stay the same way things are and ran by the same people who have been running Antioch for many years. And that, Mrs. Ploughman, seems to be your type of Democracy!

Watershed meetings to begin

Watershed Management Boards representing each of Lake County's four watersheds will begin meeting locally in late October and early November.

The boards, which meet quarterly, will advise the Lake County Stormwater Management Planning Committee on disbursement of funds for drainage and flood control improvement projects, and provide financial and budgetary guidance, for their respective watersheds. Approximately $500,000 is allocated for watershed-specific projects in the SMPC's proposed 1991 budget. All Watershed Management Board meetings are open to the public.

The boards are composed of chief government officials (or their delegates) from each community, township, drainage district and county board district within the county's four watersheds—Des Plaines River, Fox River, Lake Michigan and the North Branch of the Chicago River. Because watershed are divided by topographical, rather than political boundaries some constituencies are represented on more than one board.

The SMPC, whom the boards report to, will continue to meet the third Wednesday of each month at the Lake County Farm Bureau building in Grayslake. Sessions begin at 7:30 p.m.

Dates, locations and lists of municipalities represented by each board are listed below:

Oct. 24, North Branch of the Chicago River, City Council Chambers, Highland Park City Hall, 1707 St. Johns, Highland Park.

Oct. 30, Des Plaines River, Room C002, College of Lake County, 19351

Sunday concert

New Life Church in Lake Zurich invites the public to join them at 10 a.m. Sunday, Oct. 21 for a concert with Kurt and Julie Overturf. The couple travels throughout the midwest singing songs of praise and giving testimony of God's faithfulness.

George Lawrence and Frank Ryskiwicz, local businessmen and members of the Citizens for Tom Clement committee, have announced a No Tap bowling tournament to be held at Bertrand's Bowling Lanes in Waukegan on Sunday, Oct. 21.

Tinkering in garage can pay-off big!

by GLORIA DAVIS
Lakeland Newspapers

Just a few years ago, Fran Prestay of Wilmot and Carl Schultz of Silver Lake were happy in their middle-class jobs, spending much of their free time fooling around with replacing the body of Fran's stock race car.

It suddenly dawned on them that there could be many race car enthusiasts that spend their time doing the same thing and to their knowledge there was no place one could go for reasonably priced car body replacements after an unplanned, rather noisy and smashing meeting had taken place on the track.

And so Five Star Fabrication was born in 1979. Today Five Star has three huge buildings in operation in Randall Twp. There are as many as 50 shipments of race car body parts going out of Five Star daily to the 140 dealers that handle their product.

Both being family men, Fran kept his two service stations in operation and Carl continued to work with his father at Schultz Plumbing in Silver Lake, working on their new business on the side.

In 1982-83 Five Star moved to a slightly larger site in Silver Lake now used by Western Auto.

By 1984, Fran and Carl got into Five Star full-time and took over what had been a Taylor Rental Bldg. on Hwy. F in Randall, their present site.

Today, Five Star operates with 21 full-time employees and has more than tripled its operating space as it produces three types of race car body replacements, aluminum, polypropylene and fiberglass.

"We get models of cars used in racing from General Motors and Ford sometimes two years before they are in the retail showrooms," said Fran.

"We have to keep the car a secret as we disassemble it to make molds of the doors, hood, roof, nose, etc. When we are finished we take what's left of the car and put it through a compactor, sending a picture to GM and Ford proving that we have destroyed the car," explains Fran.

"We can't release any of the parts to our

Five Star Fabrications, located on Hwy. F in Randall Twp., has tripled its size since moving from its old site in Silver Lake. dealers until the car in question is on the retail showroom floor, but when that time arrives we have a stockpile of body parts ready for shipment.

Five Star does its main advertising in two racing magazines, read by most race enthusiasts. "That's all we need," explains Fran.

Fran reports that this whole operation has expanded so quickly that they are already almost out of room.

"Our business has doubled almost every one of the 10 years we have been in business," Fran smiles in satisfaction.

The set-up the two 40-year-olds have for the manufacturing of race car body parts has great potential for the manufacturing of a myriad of aluminum, plastic and fiberglass products in the future.

"We see great possibilities for this, Fran says, but if we get too big, we will have to spend our entire lives at the workplace and this is not what either one of us wants, we want time to enjoy the profits of our labors." Carl left for a week's hunting trip in Colorado just minutes after we took his picture and Fran had just returned from a week-end break in Las Vegas.

Fran is also proud of the fact that Five Star has found such great people to help handle the operation. "We have good people, we also want them to make the money they deserve," says Fran, sounding like the kind of employer everyone dreams about.

So it looks like Five Star will get as big as its owners want it to.

A banker influenced the Civil War as much as any general

Historically, the federal government has raised money by printing, taxing or borrowing. The most creative method is borrowing.

The government has been borrowing money since it was first empowered to write an IOU. Most of this money was borrowed through bonds and used to pay the cost of wars. It was not until the

by brod'arcy
Financial Focus

American Civil War, however, that the ability of a government to borrow money played such a vital role in a war's outcome.

According to author John Steele Gordon, who has written extensively on this subject, "The fact that the North succeeded (in inventing more new ways to raise money) and the South did not, played not small part in the outcome."

Both sides began by printing money. In the North, banks and the federal government began paying their debts in "greenbacks." By 1865 there was $447 million in greenbacks in circulation.

The Confederacy issued more than $1.5 billion worth of Treasury notes during the war. Although these notes were "redeemable in gold and silver two years after independence was achieved," the South did not have the ability to tax and raise money as efficiently as the North.

The most unique borrowing scheme, however, was devised by Philadelphia banker Jay Cooke. After the first Battle of Bull Run in 1861, Cooke marshaled his political and banking associates to collect more than $2 million in a matter of hours on the credit of a three-year treasury note.

As a result of this ingenious scheme, Cooke was made an agent of the federal government. He immediately devised the "five-20" bond, which would be purchased by thousands of small investors.

The bond got its name from the maturity. It could not be redeemed in less than five years or more than 20.

Meanwhile, it paid six percent interest in gold.

Cooke marketed these bonds so aggressively that by May, 1864 he "was actually raising money as fast as the War Department could spend it, about $2 million a day, Gordon writes.

Unfortunately, Cooke's bond drive also had far-reaching negative effects. In the eight-year period from 1857 to 1864, the national debt rose from 93 cents per person to $75 per person. It did not reach that level again until World War I.

From a historical standpoint, Cooke influenced the outcome of the Civil War by extending into the future the cost of vital war material. The South was unable to do this, and their supplies and materials virtually vanished. From an economic perspective, Cooke devised a mass marketing way to raise money that is still effective today.

For good or bad, Jay Cooke, a banker, probably influenced the outcome of the American Civil War far more than any battlefield general.

Fall Foliage

Outdoor gardening checklist

Begin planting hardy spring blooming bulbs. Planting may continue until the ground freezes. Apply water and fertilizer (5-10-5) at planting time. Wrap trunks of woody plants with burlap, heavy paper or plastic to prevent sunscald and rodent damage. Transplant deciduous trees and shrubs once leaves have fallen. Fertilize trees and shrubs (if not done in spring). Rake fallen leaves. Harvest Halloween pumpkins before killing frost. Protect tender plants from light freezes by covering them with sheets, plastic or cardboard boxes. Dig up and pot parsley, chives, thyme, rosemary and other herbs for indoor cooking. Apply manure or other organic matter and till into the garden soil. Put up a bird feeder so birds will find it before cold weather arrives.

Fall Foliage

Beautiful fall colors: What makes them fascinating

One of the nicest things about living in the northern climes is the ever-changing seasons. And, for a short week or so, nature puts on one of her most spectacular displays as native trees and shrubs finish out the growing season in a spectacular display of fall colors.

According to James A. Fizzell, Univ. of Illinois horticulturist in Cook County, Jack Frost usually gets the credit. But in reality, says Fizzell, a hard frost would quickly destroy the colorful beauty of fall, killing the leaves and resulting in the brown of winter.

How do we become the beneficiaries of such a brilliant display of fall color? The fall colors come from five major pigment groups. The green colors, evident in summer, are a product of the chlorophylls. The yellow colors are from xanthophyll pigments. The orange, as well as some yellow and red color, are a result of the presence of carotenoid pigments, while the very showy shades of dark red, scarlet and crimson are due to anthocyanins, explains Fizzell. The least noticeable pigments seen in fall are the tannins, which are responsible for the deep browns of oaks.

Fizzell says, full color of a particular plant is hereditary but is affected by environmental conditions. The kind of pigments, and the color the leaves turn in the fall, is genetically controlled. Every fall across the land, birch trees all turn yellow, red oaks turn red, Ohio Buckeyes turn orange, etc.

The amount of color that develops each fall is influenced by light, water, temperature, nutrition and the soluble sugar produced by the plant.

Sugar accumulation in the leaves is the most important factor in the production of anthocyanins and the intensity of the red and orange colors. Trees and shrubs kept healthy during the summer with full sun and adequate nutrients and water have been the greatest potential for intense fall color from anthocyanins. Whether the color develops depends on fall weather conditions, says Fizzell. Sunny fall days followed by cool (40-50F.) nights favor accumulation of sugars in the leaves. Cloudy fall days and warm nights result in decreased sugar production and a movement of sugar out of the leaves, resulting in less fall color.

The yellow colors due to the xanthophylls and carotenoids, are actually present in the leaves during the summer, but they are hidden by the dark green chlorophyll in the leaves. As temperatures and light intensity decrease in late summer and early fall, chlorophyll breaks down, exposing the yellow pigments.

What are our chances of brilliant fall colors this year? ponders Fizzell. Growing conditions have been good but most plants are under a great deal of stress since the drought of 1988. This causes the early, sporadic coloring and early leaf drop that we have experienced this year. Recent moisture in some areas has caused plants to break dormancy. For instance, some crab apple trees have been blooming the last couple of weeks. Plants that have broken dormancy may try to grow in the winter with little fall color. So, the prospects don't look too good (for a vibrant fall), he concludes. But, such predictions often go astray as mother nature does her thing.

And, even if the show isn't generally as spectacular as it has been in past years, more than likely there will be enough color in some places to make a drive to the forest preserve worthwhile.

Participate in Global ReLeaf

If you would like to become an active participant in the Global ReLeaf effort and plant a tree to improve the environment, you may need some advice on the best trees to plant. Of course, different trees are appropriate in different parts of the country.

Take a good look at your yard and decide where you want to plant your tree.

Pick a hardy tree, one that does well in your area. The expert at your garden center can help you there.

Trees come in many shapes and heights.

Be careful not to over-plant. Think of the future, when your trees will be full grown, and plant them far enough apart that each can develop fully.

How The Mulcher Works

A mulching mower utilizes a multi pitch, multi stage blade, and a dome-like shaped deck. This unique design allows air suction to lift the grass upright and be cut and recut into fine particles. These particles are then forced back into the turf near the soil level.

Mulching returns the clippings to the soil, where they decompose within 14 days. This returns the valuable nutrients to the soil giving you a healthier lawn. Mulching also reduces the evaporation of water from the soil.

Film Review

"Memphis Belle," the story of a WW2 Flying Fortress and her crew on their 24th and final bombing mission, is a movie that will probably mean different things to different people.

To those of us who have seen the best in this kind of movie, such as "God is My Co-Pilot," and "Thirty Seconds Over Tokyo," it's sort of fun to see all the wartime fly-boy clichés brought back to life.

To the younger generation who have been privy to today's "Top Guns," etc., these air jocks in their mundane leather jackets, flying a propeller-driven bomber, could offer an interesting bit of nostalgia, or else they'll think it's just too square for belief.

Mathew Modine, who seems to be in every new movie, plays Mathew Modine, but this time in a flight jacket and cap. In the name of nostalgia, we'll give this one three stars out of five.

But anyone who wants to see a really good WW2 air born story can stop at the nearest video store and pick-up something from the John Wayne section. Don't forget "Thirty Seconds," it's a classic.

The McHenry area Jaycees are sponsoring their annual haunted house located at the Knox Park Barn on Rte. 31, just north of Bull Valley Rd. The Jaycees are touting this as "the scariest haunted house in the area." It's open at 7:30 p.m. on Oct. 19, 20, 21, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29 and 31. Admission is $3 per person.

Outstanding cast makes 'The Iceman Cometh'

by TOM WITOM

Goodman Theater opened its 1990-91 season on a high note with Eugene O'Neill's imposing "The Iceman Cometh."

An outstanding cast, led by Brian Dennehy as Theodore "Hickey" Hickman, was assembled by director Robert Falls for this rarely produced monumental work. It's a long show

Critics Choice

- four hours and 35 minutes, including three intermissions - but it flows with a seamless intensity.

All the action occurs in 1912 at a dingy, subterranean New York saloon, Hope's Bar. Hickey, a traveling salesman, has returned for one of his twice-a-year visits. Only this time, he's a changed man. On the wagon, he shows up for the 60th birthday party of his long-time crony Harry Hope (Jerome Kilty).

This time Hickey has a mission: to defuse the pipedreams that Hope and all the regulars at his bar have clung to for years. In their dream world, clouded by alcohol, they take solace in the tomorrow that never comes, the tomorrow when they will go out there and claim that job, march down the aisle as husband and wife or open a business.

With the fervor of a preacher, Hickey convinces many of his drinking pals to face reality for a change. And the results are sadly predictable.

Dennehy has a commanding stage presence, and he gets to demonstrate it many times in this play. His soliloquy in the final act runs about 30 minutes, and it's riveting.

Kilty does a fine job as the innkeeper who hasn't left his pub since his wife died 20 years ago. James Cromwell, who plays Larry Slade, is convincing as the anarchist ostensibly waiting for his death yet clinging steadfastly to life. Ron Dean is Rocky, the bartender who disdains being called a pimp even though he hires out three ladies of the night.

Jim True succeeds as Don Parritt, the confused young man who couldn't cope with revolutionary politics.

The sets and lighting are done to a turn. Hope's Bar comes across as a desolate, sleazy, lonesome dive. "The Iceman Cometh" will run through Nov. 4.

Airline hubs and how to make the best of them

by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.,

Atlanta, St. Louis, Raleigh-Durham, Memphis and Pittsburgh. What do they have in common?

They are known as "hubs" in the airline industry in a system that works like this. An airline picks one or more cities (hubs) to route most of their flights (spokes of the hub), and fills planes from there with passengers from all over the country with common destinations.

Example. Let's say American has 50 passengers from Chicago who want to go to Orlando, and 50 passengers from St. Louis who also want to go to Orlando. Let's further assume that a plane holds 100 passengers. Instead of flying two half-empty non-stop flights from both St. Louis and Chicago all the way to Orlando, they fly both the Chicago and St. Louis passengers to Raleigh-Durham, an American hub, and fly one full plane to Orlando.

That's fine for American, but it means you have to change planes. American does make it worth your while by offering a lower fare for your inconvenience. So if you're after lower fares, ask your travel agent about using a hub. There are some things you should know, though, as choosing your hub carefully can be important.

Ask for a flight with a good on-time rating to avoid missing a connection. This information is in your agent's computer. During winter months, consider a hub below the snow belt.

Flight attendants often announce gate assignments for connecting flights before landing. Consult the airport diagram quite often found in the in-flight magazine and plan your route to your gate.

If you do miss your connection, you don't necessarily have to walk to the ticket counter in the main terminal. Look for a special service desk in the gate area. Another trick is to find a pay phone and call the airline's reservation number, and have them book you on the next flight out.

Using a hub can save you money with little extra hassle, if you plan ahead.

Cool, crisp days of fall are shining down on Wisconsin. Footballs fly and biking trails invite, with leaves rustling in earthy tones of orange and yellow. It's time to put away the barbecue grill and think about warm, hearty meals for active bodies.

The Wisconsin Milk Marketing Board has prepared two brochures that combine healthy lifestyles with the satisfying goodness of Wisconsin cheese.

Pizza with Wisconsin Fontina, artichoke hearts and red onion

- 1 lb. frozen white bread dough, thawed according to package directions.
- 2 Tbls. olive oil, divided
- 2 Tbls. wheat bran
- 1 large clove garlic, chopped finely
- 1/2 medium red onion, thinly sliced
- 1 pkg. (9 ounces) frozen artichoke hearts, thawed, or 1 can (14 ounces), drained, sliced lengthwise
- salt
- freshly ground pepper
- 1 cup (4 ounces) shredded Wisconsin Fontina cheese

On a lightly oiled baking sheet, press chilled dough into a 9x12 inch rectangle with raised edges. Brush with one tablespoon olive oil. Evenly sprinkle with bran; press lightly into dough. Sprinkle with garlic. Arrange onion in 1 layer over dough; top with artichoke hearts. Drizzle with remaining 1 tablespoon olive oil. Lightly season with salt and pepper. Evenly sprinkle with cheese. Do not permit dough to rise. The pizza may be held briefly in the refrigerator before baking. Bake at 450 degrees until crust and cheese are lightly browned, about 15 minutes.

Makes 4 servings.

Three bean chile with colby

- 1 large onion, chopped
 - 2 large green bell peppers, cut in 1/2 inch squares
 - 3 cloves garlic, chopped finely
 - 2 Tbls. vegetable oil
 - 1 can (16 oz.) black beans, drained
 - 1 can (16 oz.) pinto beans, drained
 - 1 can (16 oz.) black-eyed peas, drained
 - 1 can (about 14 1/2 oz.) diced tomatoes with juice
 - 2 cups water
 - 1 cup dry red wine or an additional cup of water
 - 3 Tbls. cornmeal
 - 1 Tbl. chile powder or to taste
 - 1 tsp. dried oregano
 - 1 tsp. ground cumin
 - 1 tsp. salt
 - 1/2 tsp. ground cinnamon
 - 1 cup (4 oz.) shredded colby cheese, divided
- Saute onion, bell pepper, and garlic in oil until soft,

Artichoke, red onion pizza

about five minutes. Stir in remaining ingredients except cheese. Simmer, uncovered, stirring occasionally, until thick, about one hour. Stir in half the cheese until melted. Do not boil after cheese has been added. Serve with remaining cheese sprinkled on top.
Makes 6 servings.

10 questions to test your automobile savvy

The best drivers are those who are most conscientious about the upkeep of their cars. These usually are the people who are most knowledgeable about their vehicles. Here are some multiple choice questions about cars and car ownership. See how many you get right. (Answers found below).

- How far should your headlights project for safe driving:
 - 200 ft.
 - 300 ft.
 - 400 ft.
- When your car burns oil it usually is because of:
 - worn piston rings
 - fouled spark plugs
 - worn valve guides
- Aunt Minnie is a city dweller commuting three miles to work. She has driven less than 6,000 miles in two years. Based on that kind of use Minnie should change the oil at:
 - 10,000 miles
 - 8,000 miles
 - 6,000 miles
 - none of the above
- Some 1989 cars are equipped with:
 - no distributor
 - no carburetor
 - no shock absorbers
 - no fan belt
 - all of the above are correct
- A clunking sound from the front of your front wheel drive car forewarns you of pending failure of:
 - a fan clutch
 - a CV joint
 - a brake hose
 - all of the above

- You're in a snow bank. The best way to get out it to:
 - "rev" up the engine while shifting rapidly back and forth between Drive and Reverse in order to "rock" the car free
 - allow the wheel that's lost traction to spin fast enough to melt the ice
 - deflate the tires for added traction
 - all of the above
 - none of the above
- You waited too long to replace a leaking radiator hose and lost a lot of coolant. Overheating damaged the:
 - radiator
 - transmission
 - exhaust system
 - all of the above
 - none of the above
- Radiator fans on many new cars are powered by:
 - electricity
 - wind
 - water pump pressure
- You see a small puddle of brake fluid at the right front wheel. You check the fluid reservoir and find it's only half full. You should:
 - add a thicker grade of brake fluid
 - add fluid and have the system inspected for leaks
 - install new brake linings
 - all of the above

- Night driving required special caution. After dark the fatal accident rate:
 - doubles
 - triples
 - quadruples
- ANSWERS
- (b) is correct. Improperly adjusted headlight can be dangerous. Adjustment is a simple procedure.
 - (a and c) are correct. Oil burning generally leads to fouled spark plugs, but it is not the cause. Regular oil and filter changes help keep your engine from becoming an oil burner.
 - (d) is correct. Aunt Minnie's type of driving is considered "severe service," requiring more frequent maintenance intervals. Correct answer would be 3,000 miles.
 - (e) is correct. Thanks to technology cars, paradoxically, are more complex in some respects but simpler in others.
 - (b) is correct. Front wheel drive cars have several of these CV joints, covered with protective rubber boots to keep grease in and dirt out. They should be inspected periodically and serviced as needed.
 - (e) is correct. Rocking the car as described in (a) could damage the transmission. Do it gently.
 - (b) is correct. The automatic transmission is cooled by the engine cooling system. Severe overheating could damage both the engine and the transmission.

8. (a) is correct. Electric radiator fans save space and fuel.

9. (b) is correct. Investigate leaking brake fluid at once.

10. (b) is correct. Check lights and windshield wipers; be sure you can see and be seen. Slow down after dark.

SCORING
9 or 10 right:

Congratulations! You know your cars.

7 or 8 right: Passing
6 or below: You'd better brush up on car care.

Facts And Figures

It wasn't until 1973 that America produced its first metric-system automobile, a Ford. The Motor Vehicle Manufacturers Assn. says that engine size today generally is rated in liters. Proper car care can save you money at the gas station.

Clean air bill must be balanced, realistic

Congress must take a balanced, realistic approach to clean air legislation and recognize that significant reductions of vehicle tailpipe emissions since 1979 make further substantial reductions difficult for manufacturers and expensive for consumers, says a spokesman for the U.S. auto industry.

Manufacturer advancements in pollution control technology have already cut emissions of nitrogen oxides by 76 percent, and hydrocarbons and carbon monoxide each by 96 percent, says Thomas H. Hanna, President and Chief Executive Officer of the Motor Vehicle Manufacturers Assn. of the United States, Inc. (MVMA).

And as pre-control vehicles are replaced over the next 10 years, remaining emissions will be cut another 38 to 50 percent, he adds.

These achievements shouldn't be ignored as Congress moves to further tighten car and truck standards in the Clean Air Act, says Hanna.

"Vehicle manufacturers support the goal of cleaner air," says Hanna. "Our members are willing to work with Congress to further improve air quality. But some new standards proposed in the Senate version aren't technically or economically feasible."

Hanna says the Senate bill would improve air quality by less than two percent over today's standards, but boost annual costs by $7.5 billion, which would ultimately be passed on to the consumer.

A workable alternative-fuels program for cities with the worst smog problems would be more effective than the Senate tailpipe standards, Hanna adds. Measures to lower fuel volatility levels and beef up auto inspection and maintenance provisions would also have measurable air quality benefits.

If Congress decides on stiffer requirements, Hanna says, a House version to extend California's rigorous standards nationwide would be acceptable, but difficult to achieve.

"That would take a huge commitment of the industry's human and technological resources," he says. "But we hope that what is acceptable in California, with the worst air pollution in the country, would be acceptable for the rest of the country."

The Senate bill doesn't give enough time to develop technology to meet first-phase requirements on 1993 models, says Hanna. And the second-phase standards, halving 1993 emission levels for the 2003 model year, can't be achieved with any known technology.

"Skeptics will claim that the industry succeeded in meeting arbitrarily-chosen standards in the past," he adds. "But they forget what happened in 1977, when Congress had to modify one of the key standards or shut down the auto industry."

Other unrealistic requirements of the Senate bill, says Hanna, include doubling a car's "useful life" for emissions performance to 10 years or 100,000 miles; extension of auto standards to vans and light trucks; and unrealistic fuel economy levels to achieve lower carbon dioxide levels.

The Senate tailpipe standards and fuel economy mandates would effectively eliminate some lines of vehicles, he adds. These model cut-backs would invariably mean the loss of jobs and delay the replacement of older vehicles with higher emissions and lower fuel economy.

Check radiator cap to avoid big trouble

A car's radiator cap is one of those many little "out of sight, out of mind" parts of your car you probably don't think about. But it does a very big job, holding your car's coolant/antifreeze moisture under pressure in your radiator and engine block.

One way to tell the cap is not in good shape is to simply inspect it, something you can do yourself. Before you remove the cap, however, it's best to wait until your engine cools, boiling coolant can cause serious burns.

When the engine is cool, slowly remove the cap and check the rubber gasket inside. If it is cracked or looks deteriorated, consider replacing it before it causes trouble. Also check to insure that the cap fits tightly, and that someone, somewhere along the way, has not replaced it incorrectly. If the cap is cross threaded, meaning that it has not been replaced correctly, it will probably be sitting at an angle and possibly leaking.

If you suspect that the cap is damaged or should be replaced, you can have your service station or dealer make a pressure test on the cap, which requires a special device and the know-how to use it.

If you have any doubt about the cap's reliability, have it replaced at the first opportunity and save yourself some trouble down the road.

"She's always had a mind of her own..."

that's one of the reasons I love my wife. So today, when she called me at the office and said she wants to pre-plan our funerals, I wasn't surprised. Besides, now that I think about it, it's a good idea. I'll feel better knowing the kids won't have to worry about details... or the expenses!"

For more information about all the advantages of pre-planning, please call us.

LIFE CHAIN 1990

Sunday, October 7, 1990 will always be remembered as LIFE CHAIN SUNDAY in the minds of those who participated. The organizers of the LIFE CHAIN wish to extend their deep thanks to the 1400 PRO-LIFE warriors who stood for at least an hour in the damp mist, chilling wind and 40 degree temperature. There was a beautiful blend of Senior Citizens, youth groups, Catholics, Protestants, children, parents, those sitting in wheel chairs, in lawn chairs, smiling, crying, standing, dancing, waving and everyone praying that their sign "Abortion Kills Children" would have a lasting impact on the drivers traveling down Rte. 12. We congratulate your zeal and endurance in taking a firm stand in defense of the unborn! Since most of you did NOT see TV coverage of this Pro-Life event (surprised?) or read about it in your local papers, we felt you deserved to know that the Life Chain was successful in our eyes and in God's eyes! Our prayer is that the Life Chain was just the beginning of your commitment to the Pro-life cause, having strengthened your desire to obey God, (Acts 5:29) to no longer settle for compromise in your own life and in the lives of our elected officials. Take your commitment to the voting booth to express your dissatisfaction about the anti-life mind set which is strangling America. May God continue to use you for His glory and bless you as you submit to His will, walking in the light of His love.

In His service,
and with His love,
we remain faithful,

WHITTIER

OVERALL DIMENSIONS: 66'-6" x 50'-0"
LIVING: 2691 square feet
GARAGE: 660 square feet

400-02 WHITTIER
By Landmark Designs

Chuck full of odd and interesting interior angles, the contemporary split-level Whittier is clearly an angle-lover's delight.

Plans for this four-bedroom home, designed for construction on gently side-sloping lot, include a three-car garage - storage space for a boat or recreational vehicle, in addition to the standard of two cars. Garage and family room are at the lowest level with family living space a half-flight up at mid-level. Sleeping areas are another half-flight up, over the garage and family room.

But to say the home has only three levels is an oversimplification. One step down and to the left of the mid-level entryway is a quasi-octagonal sunken living room. Surrounded by windows, this bright room is also warmed in winter by a wood stove.

One step up brings you to a dining room with glass doors that open onto a wide deck. Fortunately, this room is almost completely rectangular, allowing for a visually satisfying alignment with a formal dining room table and buffet.

The kitchen, another near-octagon, is illuminated by skylights. In addition to counter space ample to provide elbow room for two or three cooks, a work island at its center has a vegetable sink. Off to one side, wedged in a near-triangular enclosure, is the pantry, and off to the other is the most oddly shaped room of all - a sunny eating nook.

Half a flight down, the upper half of the family room is open to the lower half of the nook. Beverages and clean-up are close at hand with a small sink and refrigerator.

While the exterior of the upper level is rectangular, designers have managed to work at least one odd angle into every room but the master bedroom. The oversized walk-in shower stall in the master bathroom features multiple shower heads. A huge linen closet, with extra storage space, is centrally located and a compartmentalized bath with double vanities serves the other three bedrooms.

For a study plan of the WHITTIER (400-02), send $5.00 to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307, Eugene, OR 97402. (Be sure to specify plan name & number when ordering). Designers, architects and readers with plans they would like to see featured also are invited to contact Landmark.

Award top schools

Elementary schools from across Lake County participated in the second annual Lake County Elementary School Attendance Week, which was sponsored by Project PASS (Lake County Center for Dropout Prevention) and Sybil Yastrow, Lake County regional superintendent of schools. The Lake County Board formally recognized the week by proclaiming it officially at its Sept. 11 meeting.

Schools developed their own attendance activities for the week. Some sponsored poster contests and offered special classroom attendance incentives.

All schools in the county were eligible to be recognized by the regional superintendent as excelling in their weekly attendance rate. The top reporting schools were: St. Gilbert's, Grayslake; Avon Center, Lake Villa; Lotus School, Spring Grove, J.J. Pleviak, Lake Villa; Stanton School, Fox Lake; Rondout, Libertyville; Jefferson, Mundelein; Northwood Junior High, Highland Park; Wayne Thomas, Highland Park; Ellis, Round Lake; and Woodview, Grayslake.

All winning schools reported weekly attendance rates of at least 97 percent. Each school will receive a certificate of recognition from the regional superintendent's office.

Huddle or no, Grant finds Panthers hard to stop

To huddle or not to huddle. That was the question facing the Round Lake Panthers as they prepared for an always emotional neighborhood tussle with Grant.

So Coach Mike Dunn decided to start the game with no-huddle but went back to the conventional huddle in the second half. The end result was a 31-8 win which knocked the Bulldogs out of the playoff picture at 3-4 and made it six straight for the home team.

The Panthers, alone on top of the Northwest Suburban Conference at 4-1, had to rally as Grant led briefly in the second quarter.

"We knew it would be that kind of game. We talked about coming back. Grant is a good football team," Coach Dunn said.

Quarterback Mike Bragg put on an impressive show for the home crowd as he made effective use of a few passing attempts. Tom Minkalis caught a 65-yarder on an audible by Bragg to start the scoring.

Brett Morely answered with an 18-yard touchdown and the Bulldogs gained a momentary 8-7 lead when Rick Twarowski caught a pass from Aaron Foszcz.

"They started to run the power play and we could not shut it down," Grant Coach Rob Kruse said.

Aric Rodriguez was a key to the Round Lake attack. He scored the go-ahead touchdown in the third quarter. Garrett Horn, who completed the scoring with a 15-yard run, added the two-point conversion run.

Kruse had praise for his quarterback Foszcz. "He has improved drastically," he said. Foszcz completed seven of 15 passes, good for 155 yards.

Chris Collis snared an eight-yard pass from Bragg for the third quarter RL score.

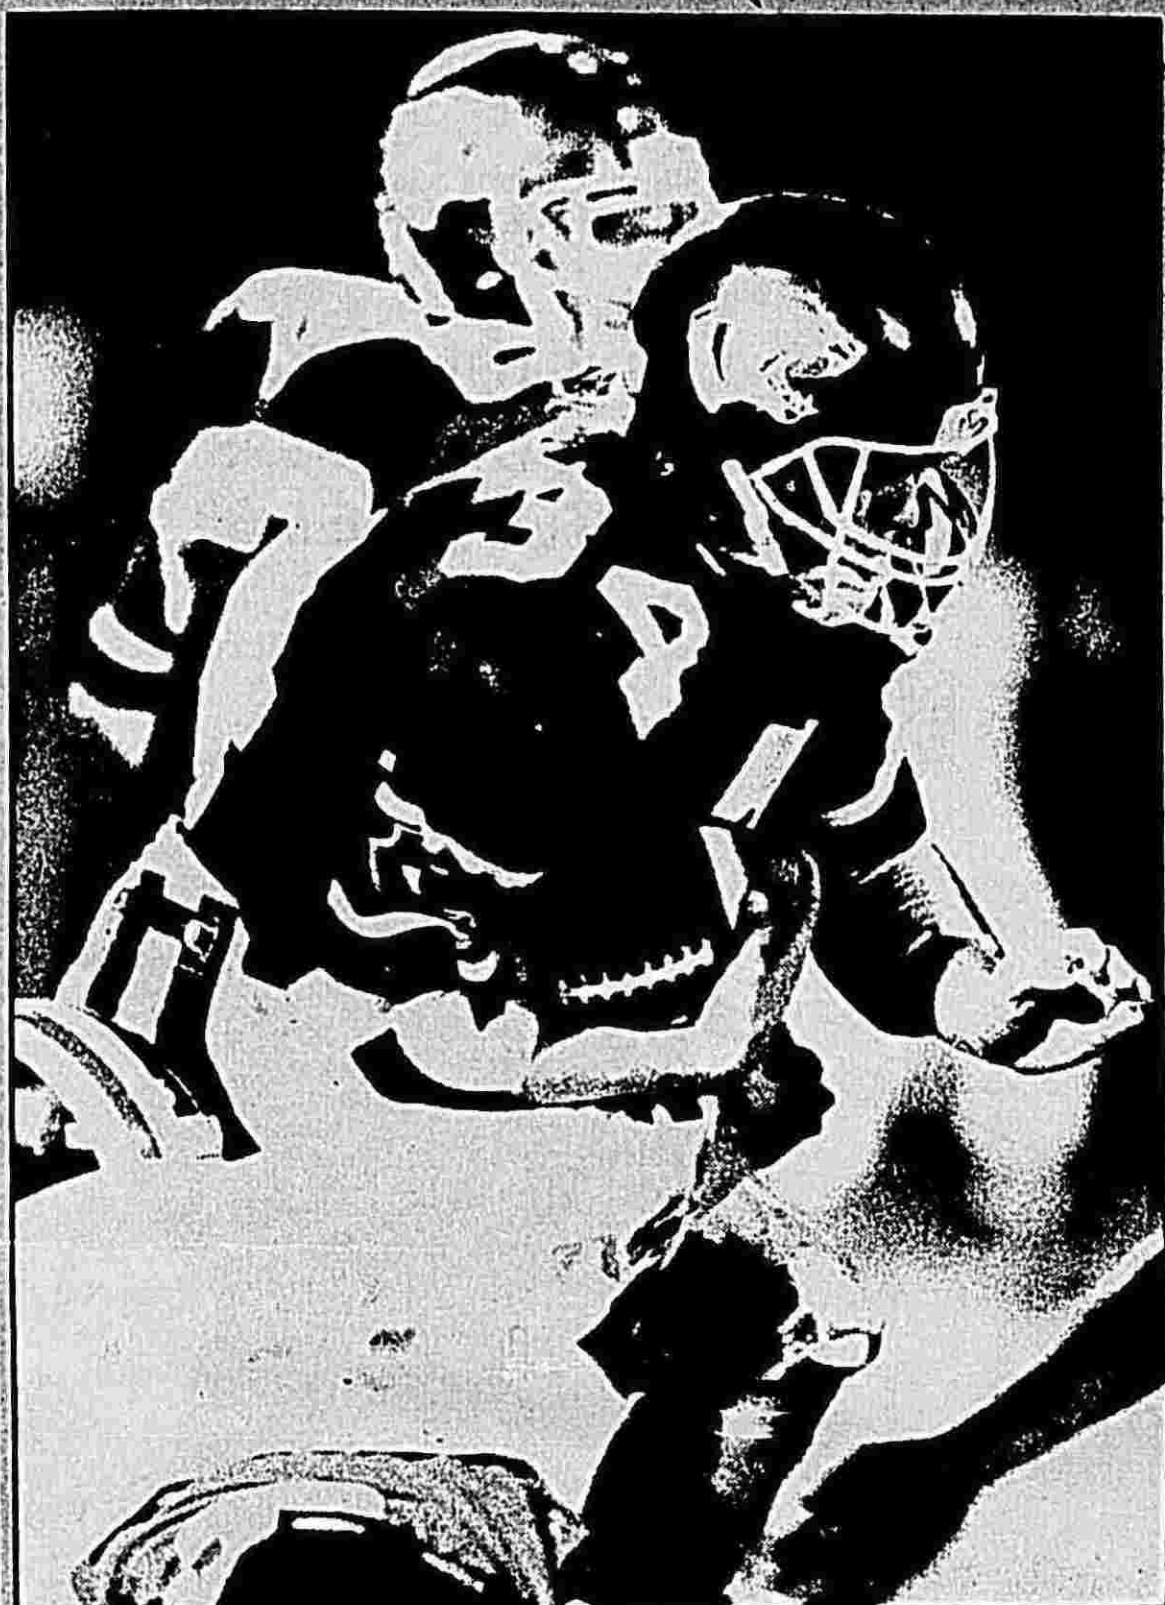

"The kids played a real aggressive football game," Kruse said.

Dunn credited Steve Pressoir, Brian Smith and several other defensive players as having strong games.

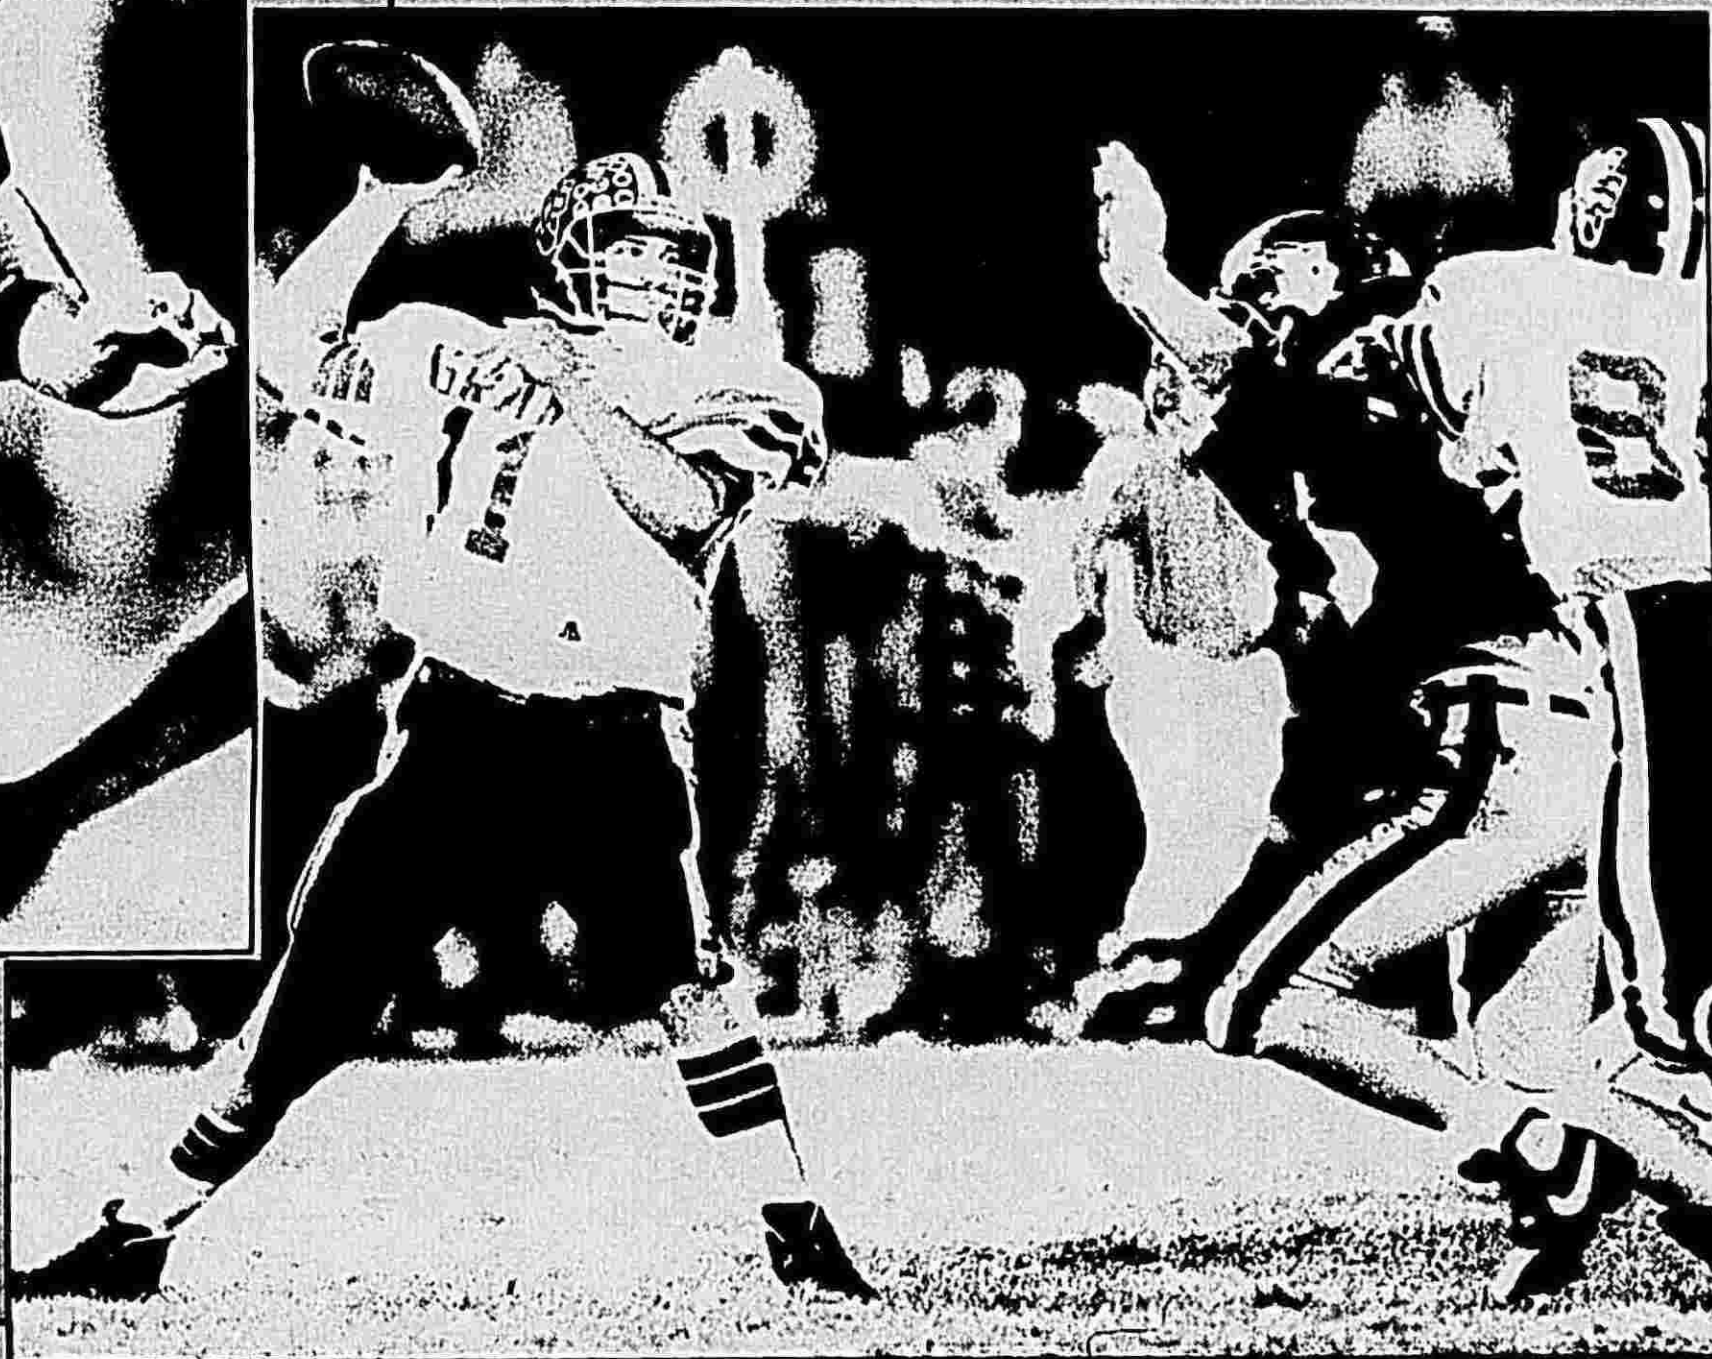

The Panthers will face Marengo in an away game Oct. 19 featuring two option oriented offenses.

For Grant, Oct. 20 is Homecoming and a chance to avenge last year's loss at Johnsburg's Homecoming. Although out of the playoffs, the Bulldogs can still win their next two games against Johnsburg and Marengo and finish above .500 for the first time since 1987.

"We will have a winning season. I know we will beat them both," Kruse said.

It was a neighborhood tussle when Round Lake hosts Grant in Northwest Suburban Conference contest. Panthers won handily, 31-8 for sixth straight win. Defense takes a bow as Vikes get back on track

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

While other teammates celebrated in their own way, the defensive unit of the Lake County Vikings smiled for a group picture.

The grins were wide this Sunday afternoon and no, not because the semi-pro football bunch liked to play in the torrential downpours which soaked Round Lake Senior High School.

Instead, it was because the Vikings' defensive performance was the key reason behind the 17-12 win over the Palos-Orland Park Force which snapped a losing streak.

Bob Ackers, a Round Lake product who knows what it is like to play on this muddy field, set the tempo with a 37-yard touchdown after an intercepted pass in the second quarter. Safety Steve Borzik completed the heroics for the defense as he stepped in front of a Palos receiver at the Viking goal line in the final seconds. Ackers also had a sack of the Palos quarterback.

"I was reading the quarterback and I could tell he was rushed," Borzik said of his interception with 1:05 left. Both of the secondary standouts said the defensive line's pressure was critical for their heroics.

Defensive coach Russ Kraly explained that four Vikings - Randy Jones, Alan Ploch, Todd Kraly and Dwayne Keener, had been playing all week. The team started the year with eight defensive linemen.

"That hurts us because we are so light up front. Early in the season, we tried to keep everybody fresh. So now some guys have to suck it up," Kraly said.

Ploch, a Lake Forest High School product, was playing with a broken toe.

Kraly had high praise for the defensive secondary of Borzik, Ackers and Jerry Nash.

"I have a lot of confidence in the secondary. I let them call their own coverages. I call only 20 percent of the time," Kraly said.

The Force had closed to within 17-12 on a two-yard run by quarterback Bobby Welch with :22 left in the third quarter.

After a 60-yard punt by Chris Fridrick, the Force started at their own 30 midway through the final quarter. "He helps me out everytime I get into trouble. I think he needs to be in the pros," Vikings Coach Al Clark said of Fridrick.

Al Martin then proceeded to direct the visitors on a 14-play drive highlighted by a roughing the passer call and face mask penalties on Lake County.

Martin was flushed out of the pocket on a second and four situation with 1:05 left. Offensively, the Vikings QB Elmer Smith overcame the weather to have an effective day.

A 49-yard reverse by Rodney Coleman led to an 11-yard run by Cliff Pohls.

In the second half, a Fridrick field goal of 27 yards gave the Vikings a 17-6 margin.

The Vikings now prepare for a rematch with Racine Oct. 21 at noon at Mundelein High School.

Local Sports

Elmhurst College's men's basketball team, coached by Larry Green, will represent the country's top NCAA Division II cross country team at the Western Invitational held at the University of Wisconsin-Whitewater. Dennis Palmer, a Round Lake High School product, had the third best time of the women runners for Elmhurst.

Lakeland's resident, Loren Jans, a product of Round Lake High School, scored a career performance at Carleton University. Under the College of College of St. Lawrence, Carleton is a Northwest, Lakeland. These two products are joining the Wisconsin College Lady Vikings. They are Graydon High grade Robin and Gail Sammelson and Lake Zurich product Heather Husak. Through 14 games, the Vikings had an 8-6 record. Gail Sammelson had played in 13 of the 14 games, with six kills and 16 digs. Robin Sammelson played in eight matches and had a 2.1 aces average. Husak played in all 14 matches and had 79 kills and 46 digs. Augustana is at the University of Wisconsin-Gotham journey Oct. 12 and 13.

CLC runners prepare for tests at conference meet

The College of Lake County's cross country teams will be hoping to build on momentum gained at their own invitational to the conference meet Oct. 19 at Reese Park in Chicago, hosted by Wright College.

The Lancers mens team finished in second place at the Friday meet with 54 points. Waubensee won the meet with 23 points, Morton had 74, Wright 76 and Oakton 87.

There were only three runners in the women's race. CLC's Kim Dahm won the race in 20:28, Janis Worch was second in 21:06.

"Kim has placed in all our races," CLC Coach Johnson said.

Felipe Sanchez of Morton won the men's meet in 26:59 and had a shot at tying or breaking the course mark of 26:10.

Chuck Gustafson of Mundelein led a pack of CLC runners. His 28:23 was good enough for fourth place.

John Russel of North Chicago was next at 28:25, Chris Scott, a transfer from Georgia, next at 28:31.

Mike Russo, a Grant High product, was 17th in 35:02.20.

Elsewhere at Lancer country:

The volleyball team faced Triton, McHenry and Kankakee Oct. 13 and came away with one win and two losses.

CLC downed Triton 15-8, 15-7. Leading servers were Rachael Smith with 16 out-of-17 with three aces and 16 points; Gretchen Anderson was 10-for-12 with four aces and 10 points. Caryn Alexander had four kills on seven of nine attacks and Andrea True had three kills on three of five attacks. CLC improved to 20-2 with the win.

CLC lost a hard-fought 11-15, 13-15 match to Kankakee. Alexander had eight serving points on 11-for-13 and five aces. Anderson was a perfect 10-for-10 with one ace and five points.

Alexander and Shannon Stanek led the attack department. Alexander had 14-for-16 with seven kills while Stanek was nine-for-nine with four kills.

The serving game went south for the Lancers against McHenry, a team they had defeated in Skyway Conference play. The Scots won 15-10, 15-8.

Anderson and Stanek both had four kills.

Before the triangular, CLC knocked off Waubensee and North Central. In a marathon battle with the Chiefs, CLC won 6-15, 15-6, 15-1, 15-17 and 15-9. They beat North Central, 15-2, 16-14.

Libertyville graduate Stanek had 29 points, True 13, Smith 14.

Alexander had 19 kills and Anderson had nine and Stanek eight.

Terra Chomko was 44-for-56 in setting and Stanek was 42-for-46.

Against North Central,

Christina Dietz and Sandy Padjen contributed eight points. Stanek had four kills and Dietz three.

Jessica Elsner, a Grayslake graduate, was a perfect 28-for-28 setting and Chomko was 24-for-28.

The CLC women's tennis team finished eighth out of 14 teams at the Region IV tournament to conclude the season.

Quarterfinalists were: Wendy Fritts at No. 1 singles, Kelly Doyle at No. 4 singles and Tracy Spencer at No. 5 singles.

CLC had a 5-5 dual meet record.

Gleason in right place, right time for Warren

They say there is no substitute for experience.

Chalk up Jeremy Gleason as another believer in that saying.

Gleason, a junior, enjoyed the kind of game defensive ends dream about as Warren kept its football playoff hopes alive by surprising Libertyville 28-12.

"I've played defensive end most of my life and that helped," Gleason said.

Gleason, who wears No. 95 and is listed last on the Warren football roster, was first in the accolades department as Warren improved to 4-3 with the North Suburban Conference win.

Gleason had three solo tackles and an assist, blocked a field goal try and picked up a fumble and ran it in for a 28-yard touchdown.

"Our defensive ends did a good job. We wanted to contain their tight end (Matt Christensen)," Warren defensive coordinator Tony Flippo said.

Warren is next at Lake Forest Oct. 21, while Libertyville hosts Niles North in 2 p.m. games. Both the Wildcats and the Blue Devils need to win their remaining two games to make the playoffs.

The Warren defense shut down the Wildcats almost all night. One Libertyville score was on a 90-yard punt return by Brad Hughes. Libertyville QB John Skurkay, a junior playing in place of injured John Garwal, never could get the offense on track.

Jim Gramer, another junior, shined on defense as well as Gleason. He had a key interception at the end of the first half and had four solo stops and an assist. "That took the wind from our sails," Libertyville Coach Dale Christensen said of the interception.

"They just beat us off the line," Libertyville Coach Dale Christensen said.

The Wildcat loss drops the once NSC front-runners to 4-3, and was their third in a row. Two starting tackles were injured for the Wildcats.

Offensively, Warren put on a show in big-play passing coupled with another strong game from senior running back Paul McKissick. McKissick finished with 185 yards.

"We worked a lot on the offensive line this week. We told them they had to establish themselves. McKissick ran like a man possessed," Warren Coach Reggie Hughes said.

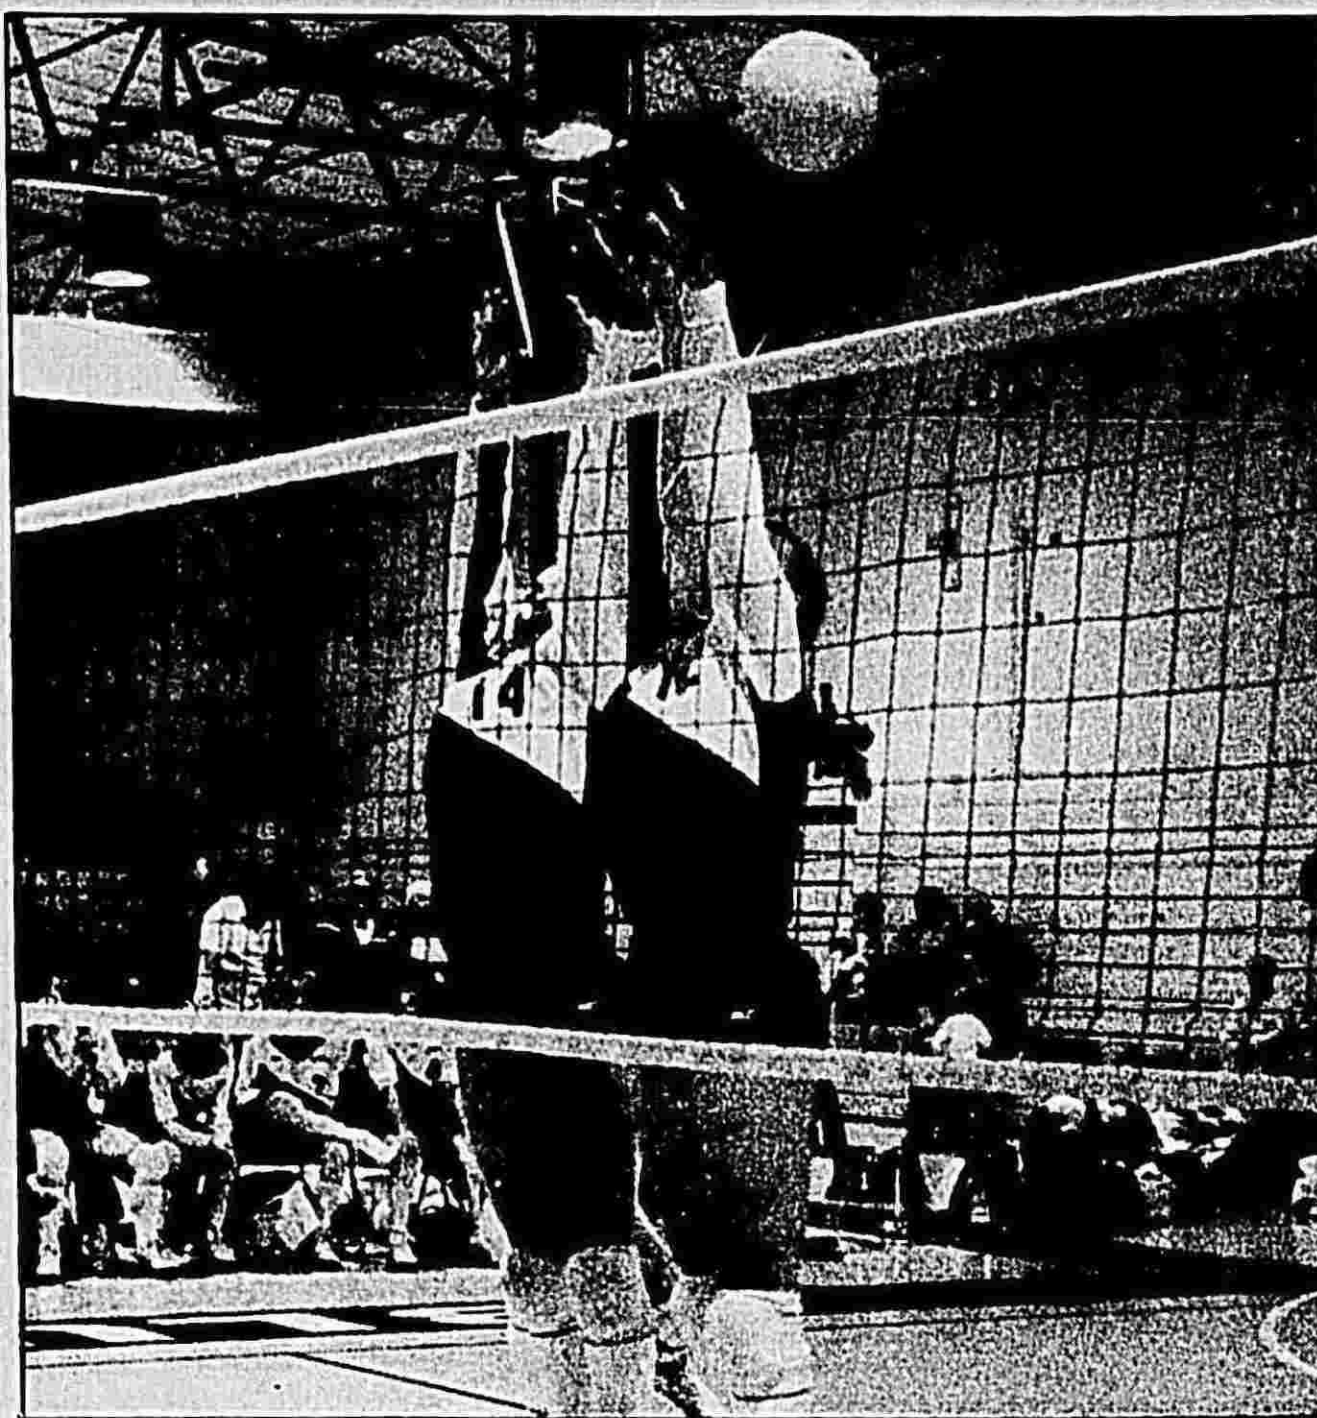

Quarterback Craig Shelton completed four of nine passes for 117 yards.

"If I had enough money, I would take the linemen out to dinner," Shelton said.

McKissick capped a 90-yard drive with a 10-yard run in which he broke two tackles with 3:15 left in the first quarter.

A 37-yard pass play from Shelton to Adam Sharani set up McKissick's next score, a seven-yard run and a Jason Anderson PAT gave Warren a two-touchdown lead.

McKissick carried the ball on eight plays out of 11 as Warren used the clock in the third quarter. Shelton tallied from a yard out to make it official at 28-6.

Striving for a block

Stevenson volleyball players Tiffany DeBolt (14) and Courtney DeBolt (12) leap for a block during North Suburban Conference match against Warren. Stevenson won NSC finale 15-3, 15-12. NSC teams will be converging on Libertyville for conference tournament Oct. 19 and 20. - Photo by Steve Peterson.

Carmel answers critics, wins fourth loop crown

When the 1990 soccer season started, Carmel Coach Tom Ragen heard the opinions of the experts.

"We weren't the favorites because Marist had nine players back and St. Viator had 10 back. I felt we could compete for it, though," Ragen said.

The Corsairs did more than just compete as Saturday they continued a tradition by winning their fourth straight East Suburban Catholic Conference championship with a 3-1 win over Benet.

The Corsairs had players fighting both illness and schedules, as the SAT tests were also conducted Saturday.

"I think they wanted to be part of history," Ragen said.

Carmel, 10-0-1 in the last 11 games, improved to 14-2-2 overall, 8-0-1 in the ESCC.

Goalie Chris Mohr turned in a strong performance for Carmel, as he has surrendered just four goals in 11 games.

"The whole defense did a real nice job," Ragen said.

The Corsairs had knocked off St. Viator 1-0 in the rain last week in Mundelein.

The regional meet is next for Carmel and the Corsairs battle the Deerfield - Lake Forest winner Oct. 19 at Carmel.

Rogers comes into the regional as the leading Carmel scorer with nine goals and three assists, Schmitt has five goals and eight assists, and Eric Lundgren has seven goals and four assists.

Loop leaders are next as CHS fights for playoffs

Led by a strong performance by the offensive line and several other heroes, the Carmel Corsairs achieved their top goal in a 29-6 Homecoming win over Holy Cross.

The Corsairs kept their playoff hopes alive with the win, which improves them to 4-3 overall, 3-2 in the East Suburban Catholic Conference race.

Senior back Dan Gramm was a big factor in the victory, as he intercepted a pass and had two key punt returns.

"Gramm played very well and we had great defense," Carmel Coach Mike Fitzgibbons said.

In addition to the usual Homecoming fanfare, the Corsairs had emotion on their side as well. "They played the game for Joel Cervantes, who cannot play football anymore because of a nerve injury," Fitzgibbons said. His teammates celebrated by carrying Cervantes off the field following the game.

The offensive line and quarterback Todd Staehle keep "getting better and better," according to the Carmel mentor.

Carmel got the scoring going in the first quarter when Jermaine Williams capped a drive with a one-yard run.

Gramm threw an 18-yard strike to Jerry Foster and Williams contributed a two-point conversion for a 15-0 lead.

Jason Taylor tallied one 17-yard run in the second quarter and Gramm's 30-yard interception return concluded the scoring.

To keep the playoff hopes alive, though, Carmel must face a new a tough ESCC opponent. Marian Catholic of Chicago Heights is next on the Carmel agenda. Marian is 6-1 overall, and tied for first place with Joliet Catholic with a 5-0 ESCC mark.

"They have a multiple spread offense and throw and run the ball well," Fitzgibbons said.

SCHEDULE

This Constitutional Amendment takes effect upon approval by the electors of this State.

FORM OF BALLOT

The proposed amendment to Article IX will appear upon the ballot in the following form:

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO SECTION 8 OF ARTICLE IX (Delinquent Tax Sales)

EXPLANATION OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT

The proposed amendment deals with the problem of tax sale delinquency on commercial, industrial, vacant non-farm, and large multi-unit residential properties. The amendment has no effect on single family homes, farmland, or apartment buildings of 6 units or less.

The amendment would permit the legislature to reduce the redemption period following a tax sale of commercial, industrial, vacant non-farm or multi-unit residential property. The redemption period is the period of time the delinquent owner has following a tax sale to pay the delinquent taxes and prevent the transfer of title to a new owner.

Under the amendment the legislature could reduce the redemption period on the specified classes of property from 2 years to 6 months if the property is 2 or more years delinquent. Currently, the Illinois Constitution permits a shorter redemption period only if the property is 5 or more years delinquent. The amendment would also allow a one year redemption period, rather than the current 2 years, if these properties are tax delinquent for at least one year.

Illinois law already provides for multiple notices to delinquent owners and court procedures before a tax deed can be obtained. This amendment would not change these protective notices or court procedures.

Punch the number opposite "YES" or "NO" to indicate your choice.

For the proposed amendment to Section 8 of Article IX of the Constitution to authorize the General Assembly to reduce the redemption period following tax sales on delinquent commercial, industrial, vacant non-farm and large multifamily residential properties only.	YES

Fall Car Care

Time to prepare your car for winter driving

Falling leaves, morning frost and weekend football games mean winter's not far away. And that means it's time to prepare your car for winter driving.

A little time spent winterizing your car can pay off with worry-free driving through the worst weather of the year.

Although safe winter driving depends on proper functioning of the same vehicle systems you rely on year-round, visibility must be a primary concern.

Now is the time to check if the defroster is working, kicking plenty of warm air up to your windshield. The same goes for your windshield washer system, to keep salt spray, snow or ice from obscuring your vision.

It's also time to replace your wiper blades. Nothing makes rubber deteriorate as much as the hot summer sun. So by the time winter rolls around, there's not much life left in the blades. They should be replaced annually and the best time is just before winter.

The longer hours of winter darkness also demand that your car's lighting system functions properly. Check your lights and flashers and have your headlamps aligned if necessary.

The summer heat also plays havoc with belts and hoses, so fall is a good time to check out the entire cooling system. After checking belts and hoses, the system should be flushed, the thermostat checked and the coolant replaced.

To insure reliable cold-weather starting, your engine should have a tune-up, oil change and check of the fuel supply and electrical systems.

Your owner's manual will tell you the proper oil to use in winter. The oil filter should be replaced at each oil change (every 7,500 miles, maximum).

The battery and electrical system deserve special attention each fall because of the increased demand during winter, when cold temperatures reduce its efficiency. Most starting problems occur in winter and virtually all "no starts" are linked to a weak battery or faulty connections.

Check your battery terminals to see that they provide solid electrical contact. If they're covered with corrosion clean them with a past of baking soda and water. Let it foam and then rinse with water. To prevent the posts from corroding apply a light coating of grease or petroleum jelly.

Fluid levels on older batteries should be checked, as well as the indicator light on new maintenance-free batteries.

Tire inflation should also be checked before and throughout the winter because tire pressure drops one pound for every 10 degree drop in temperatures. If you haven't checked your tires, including the spare, since summer, it's likely they're several pounds under the recommended inflation level.

Check the tread depth with a coin. If it isn't the same on all tires, be sure those with the deepest tread are on the drive axle, whether it is front or rear. In addition:

•Fluid levels should be checked on your brakes, power steering and automatic transmission. Door and trunk locks should also be lubricated with graphite compounds to keep them from freezing.

•Seat belt hardware should be checked to see that it functions properly and adjusts easily to accommodate bulkier winter clothing.

•A final coat of wax will help protect your car's finish from road salt, and regular washings throughout the winter, including the undercarriage, will deter corrosion of movable parts.

Winter driving conditions bring out the best or the worst in a car because they're the worst we face all year. The better the care you give your car, the better performance and protection it will give you.

Make proper tire repairs during National Car Care Month

Tires deliver thousands of miles of trouble-free service to millions of motorists everyday, but no matter how well your take care of your tires you still may wind up with a puncture. The Tire Industry Safety Council advises that proper repair of a punctured tire can help it deliver all the mileage and safe driving built into it.

Air loss due to punctures can ruin tires that could have been saved had they been removed in time for proper repair. The Council stressed the importance of proper tire repair as part of its observance of October as National Car Care Month.

Industry-approved repair methods, confined to the tread, include a combination of plug and patch, and chemical or hot vulcanizing patches, both done from inside the tire to properly seal the inner liner and fill the injury.

Experts say a plug by itself is an unacceptable repair, and never use a tube in a tubeless tire as a substitute for a proper repair.

Repairs done from the outside of the tire are common types of "quick fix" methods that are temporary and should only be used in emergencies. A tire with this type of emergency repair should be removed from the wheel at the first opportunity so a permanent repair can be made.

Gradual air loss raises a tire's operating temperature and cause components to separate, or damage the tire body in ways that may not be apparent from the outside.

If a tire is run underinflated for any period of time it should be removed from the wheel for a complete internal inspection to be sure it is not damaged. Tires running even a short distance while flat are often damaged beyond repair.

Injuries larger than 1/4 inch must be referred to a full-service repair facility.

Island people caught in floodway snare

by BILL SCHROEDER
Lakeland Newspapers

Nine families living on Mastadon Island have enlisted the support of the Fox Lake council in their battle to reclassify their property rendered unbuildable and unrepairable by intense enforcement of federally imposed floodway standards.

"All of us have just lost $70,000 to $100,000," declared Mike Smith of Fossil Dr., speaking for neighbors residing on the 10 acre site located east of Washington St. in the Ingleside area of Fox Lake bordered on one side by the Squaw Creek channel leading to Fox Lake.

"My wife and I plan on building our dream home on lots we own and giving our present home to my parents for their retirement. Now we can't do anything. We can't even put up a fence," stated the distraught homeowner who is in the building business.

The plight of a delegation of residents caught village trustees off guard, but they quickly came to the support of property owners in the flood plain area that took its name from the discovery years ago of a dinosaur bone on the land surrounded by cattails.

"What's going on? You're our ambassadors. We're coming to you for help," Smith said with an air of dispare.

"We can't do anything with our property," stated Tom Sokic, a former Chicagoan who moved to Fox Lake a year and a half ago "to get away from crime."

"My taxes are $1,100 and now my property is useless. I can't even build a fence to protect my daughter from drowning," Sokic declared.

The plight of the Mastadon Island residents is the most dramatic example in Lake County to date how floodway regulations are impacting on building and remodeling in areas exposed to flooding. Floodway prohibitions were enacted more than a decade ago in connection with the federal Clean Water Act but have not been enforced until recently.

George Droysen, another Fossil Dr. resident, complained that he and his neighbors are being unfairly cited for ordinance violations and they can't get police protection against fishermen who violate their private property rights.

It was the village rejection of an application from Droysen for a fence permit that brought the reality of floodway rules to light. "I couldn't do anything else," explained Building Com. Fred Dierker. "I have to comply with the law." John Gualardo focused on another aspect of the Catch 22 situation---real estate taxation. "I'm paying $1,700 taxes on a three room house because my lot is considered prime waterfront. Now I'm told I can't add another bedroom. I'm paying a lot of taxes on worthless property."

Droysen scoffed at regulations governing floodway, which are vastly different from flood plain controls. "I've lived there 20 years and I've only had water at my door two times."

Public Works Supt. Stu Hoehne said the island was platted for homes in 1934. "We've spent a lot of money to install sewers there. This whole thing doesn't seem right."

Trustee Kenneth Buchardt, former Fox Lake building inspector, said floodway rules were in place in 1979 when he held the position. "This isn't new," Buchardt pointed out. Complicating the Mastadon Island situation is that the homes are right at the 741.6 feet above sea level demarcation separating floodway and buildable land.

Island residents were informed that under the Clean Water Act flood insurance is not available and mortgage companies are not permitted to issue loans for property exposed to flooding.

Village Atty. John Soffiatti pointed out that a similar problem exists for residents in Plainfield whose homes were destroyed by a tornado and residents along the Salt Creek in DuPage County.

Even so, Soffiatti said he would take up the plea of Mastadon Island residents with the Army Corps of Engineers and state water officials. He said he would report Nov. 20.

He offered a ray of hope that a variance might be granted since Mastadon Island property owners are only inches away from the limit.

Absentee voting begins for Nov. 6

"I want to remind voters that absentee voting is being conducted at various township and municipal offices," said Lake County Clerk Linda Hess. "Voters who will be out of the county on election day can obtain absentee ballots at the following township and municipal offices," announced Hess:

Township Offices

Antioch, Avon, Benton, Cuba, Deerfield, Elia, Fremont, Grant, Lake Villa, Libertyville, Shields, Vernon, Warren, Wauconda, West Deerfield and Zion.

Municipal Offices

Buffalo Grove, Hawthorn Woods, Lake Forest, Libertyville, Mundelein and North Chicago.

These offices have ballots for the voters in their district only. Voting at these offices will conclude at the close of business Monday, Nov. 5. "You may wish to contact your local office for their business hours," Hess said.

"Absentee ballots can also be obtained by mail by calling the Absentee Voting Div. at (708)360-5912," added Hess.

Fall Car Care

Cars still need rustproofing for better protection, value

True or False? Your car no longer needs rust protection.

If you answered "true," try again.

With harsh winter weather just around the corner and over 10 million tons of salt dumped on North American roads each year, your car needs all the help it can get.

An analysis conducted by experts, showed that car manufacturers' warranties commonly ignore 20 critical rust-prone areas of cars, and additional areas on trucks and vans. Among them are hood and trunk inner panels, fender supports and reinforcements, door frames, brake and fuel lines, vehicle floor sheet metal, and structural and suspension components. These components are all situated in interior areas of automobiles. And since most automotive rust starts from the interior and works its way through, the prospect for corrosion remains high for new vehicle owners.

The repair or replacement costs of non-warranty metal components generally are much higher than the expense of professional rustproofing treatment available from aftermarket automotive specialists. Experts advise that owners who plan to keep their vehicles for any length of time, as most cost-conscious buyers currently do, should consider rustproofing treatments.

Research repeatedly indicates that a used car in mint condition (that is, with little or no evidence of rust corrosion), usually commands double the trade-in price of a comparable model with rust damage.

"There is no such thing as a perfect car and there is no such thing as a perfect environment," say experts. "If there were, your car would last forever and vehicle manufacturers could lock their plants and throw away the keys."

Watch that antifreeze

Visions of a frozen engine during the depths of a severe cold snap might encourage some zealous car owners to "fail safe" by pouring pure antifreeze into their cooling systems. Then they learn the hard way that they created, rather than solved, car problems.

Pure, undiluted antifreeze (ethylene glycol) solidifies at eight degrees above zero (Fahrenheit). It is intended to be mixed into a 50 percent solution with water, which provides protection to -27 degrees F. The maximum mix is 70 percent, which protects to -85 degrees F.

Dist. 36 Supt. Bill to be honored by Pres. Bush

Dr. Ruth Bill, supt. of Grass Lake School Dist. 36, has been chosen one of 60 National Distinguished Principals by the U.S. Dept. of Education and was set to be honored this week in Washington D.C. at a black-tie banquet with President George Bush.

Bill represents the state of Illinois as one of the best principals in the nation as well as in American schools in foreign countries. Bill served as a principal at Bridgeview Elementary School in Bridgeview before she became Grass Lake's superintendent.

"The school board is very impressed with her," a spokesperson for the Grass Lake board said. "She's doing an excellent job as our superintendent."

"Ray Liss, our principal, thinks she's wonderful -- they work very well together."

Bill was set to be in Washington D.C. Tuesday, Oct. 16 and Wednesday, Oct. 17. She was expected to meet with Lauro Cavazos, the U.S. Secretary of Education and other education and state officials. Additionally, she was set to be honored at a black-tie awards banquet with President George and Barbara Bush.

HEEL PAIN

Almost everyone suffers from pain in the heel at one time or another. Heel spur syndrome is a common cause of heel pain. If you experience a sharp, shooting type pain or a dull aching bruised sensation in your heel when you first put weight on your heel in the morning or after prolonged sitting, you may be suffering from heel spur syndrome.

This condition consists of two components--inflammation of the plantar fascia, the ligament, that runs along the bottom surface of the foot from the ball to the heel and an actual spur which is a bony projection on the bottom of the heel.

Not all heel spurs hurt; it is the inflammation of the structures that causes the pain, and thus, treatment is aimed at reducing the stress on the foot and decreasing the inflammation. Treatment for heel spur syndrome usually involves rest, a series of steroid injections, anti-inflammatory oral medication, physical therapy, and orthotics (custom made arch supports) which relieve stress on the plantar fascia.

Persistent heel spurs are treated, however, surgically by removing the bony spur and releasing the plantar fascia. If you are suffering from this condition, please feel free to contact Dr. Lee Tisa for a NO-COST CONSULTATION to discuss your condition and treatment options.

WKRS gives away Australia trip

Lynn Pekoe of Gurnee, and a guest, will be basking in the sun "down under." WKRS, News 1220, gave away the trip for two to Sidney, Australia during the commemoration of the 41st Anniversary of the station.

During the 41st Anniversary Bash, held at the Gurnee Holiday Inn, Lynn Pekoe was the Grand Prize winner of the drawing, entitling her and one guest to spend seven nights at the Holiday Inn of Sydney. Air transportation will be provided by American Airlines, bringing the Grand Prize total value to $5,800.

Six other prizes were awarded to runners up. Four runners up received a weekend "get away" at Wisconsin Dells. This prize entitled the winners to a one night visit at the Wisconsin Dells Holiday Inn.

FOOT FACTS From The FOOT DOCTOR

Specializing in Reconstructive Foot & Ankle Surgery

BUNIONS

Bunions are a progressive deformity, that begins with a mild bump at the base of the big toe. If left untreated the big toe deviates outward and destructive arthritic changes occur. If treated early, surgery may not be needed. If surgery is indicated it is not a disabling procedure. I utilize the Swiss Compression technique which prevents cast wear and the patient may walk that same day. Other advantages to this procedure are that surgery is performed on an outpatient basis and little or no time is missed from work.

FOR A FREE, NO COST CONSULTATION, CALL:
If you have the above symptoms or any other foot discomfort, you may contact Dr. Winters for a NO COST CONSULTATION to see if there may be an answer to your foot pain.
